Senate Spurns Strauss

Nomination Is Rejected By 49 To 46

WASHINGTON, Friday (UPI) — The Senate early Friday narrowly rejected President Eisenhower's nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce by a 49-46 vote.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican leaders Thursday summoned three absent GOP senators back to the capital by jet plane for a showdown vote on the disputed nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce.

The GOP strategists issued the summons after Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) invoked a seldom used parliamentary device to try to force a quick vote. There was a possibility the vote might come early Friday morning.

Johnson's move caught the Republicans with three of their senators out of town. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) was in Ogden, Utah; Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky.) in Salt Lake City, and Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N. D). in Devils Lake, N. D.

First Vote To Be Close

With the GOP needing every vote, the absentees were instructed to board the nearest jet for a rush trip to Washington. Meantime, Senate GOP leaders resorted to time-consuming maneuvers to stave off a vote until their arrival.

Johnson and his forces were doing their best to force an early showdown. They insisted on strict enforcement of Senate rules designed to head off quorum calls and other delays. Many of the rules are often winked at.

The final vote appeared bound to be close.

Republican leaders claimed that 33 of their 34 senators—all except Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) — would vote for Strauss. This would mean he would need at least 16 Democratic votes to put him over.

Dodd To Vote For Strauss

Such a division would result in a 49-49 tie vote that Vice President Richard M. Nixon could break. All 64 Democratic senators were on the floor during two roll calls designed to round up absentee members.

Strauss picked up his eighth publicly committed Democratic vote earlier in the day when Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) announced he would cast his ballot for the controversial cabinet officer.

A ninth Democrat, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), had stated that he was "inclined" to vote for confirmation.

Famed Actress Dies

Ethel Barrymore, Queen Of American Theater, Dies At 79

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ethel Barrymore, queen of the great acting family and a star for 58 years, died Thursday. She would have been 80 Aug. 15.

Miss Barrymore joined her brothers John and Lionel in death at 9 a.m. Present in her Beverly Hills apartment were her son, Samuel Barrymore Colt, and a nurse, Anna Albert. They had sat by her bed through the night.

Dr. Clay Barton pronounced the actress dead. Invalided with a heart ailment, her condition worsened in the last two weeks.

Last rites were administered by a priest of the Roman Catholic Church. Miss Barrymore had been a Catholic all her life and never rewed after her unhappy marriage to firearms heir Russell Griswold Colt ended in 1923.

In her last days, the actress was bedfast, but kept a lively interest in her beloved show business through TV. She especially liked the baseball games, having been a fan since youth. "I never could get interested in football because I was always playing Saturday matinees," she often explained.

She had been unable to take acting roles for a year and a half. Her last film was "Johnny Trouble" in 1957. In November 1957, she appeared on a TV show to receive tributes from such friends as Tallulah Bankhead, Frank Sinatra, Casey Stengel and Roy Campanella.

A broken arm in January 1958, caused her to withdraw from a Playhouse 90 film.

Her passing ended a glorious career unmatched in the American theater. Heiress to generations of tradition on the stage, she and her brothers became the top stars of their era. The Barrymores were the royal family of the American theater, and Ethel was unquestioned queen.

Her very manner was regal. Audiences were awed by her beauty and poise from the time she became a star at 21 in "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines."

Each of the three great Barrymores was unique. Ethel was the most versatile, playing light comedy or tragedy with equal skill.

John was flamboyant, a star in the headlines as well as the theater. Lionel was introspective, not as highly charged an actor as his brother and sister, but an accomplished artist and musician.

The trio appeared together only once—in the movie "Rasputin and the Empress" in 1932.

Deluge Follows Miami Tornado

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thunderstorms and 60 m.p.h. wind gusts lashed Miami Thursday in the wake of a tornado which injured at least 100 persons and did damage estimated at five million dollars.

The Miami Weather Bureau recorded 6.40 inches of rain from 7 p.m. Wednesday night to 1 p.m. Thursday. The downpour showed no signs of slackening as weary Red Cross workers gave aid to over 1,000 stricken families.

At least three homes were destroyed, more than 100 suffered major damage and about 500 were slightly damaged, the Red Cross said. Almost 100 business establishments were heavily damaged.

The vicious black funnel swirled in from Biscayne Bay shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night and leapfrogged on a corkscrew 12-mile course until it reached the 79th St. causeway area in the northeast section of Miami.

From there it roared across Biscayne Bay until it reached land again in a luxurious 125th St. residential section.

Terrified Miamians dived under beds and huddled against interior walls as the tornado struck.

Gromyko Puts Off His Reply To West Plan

GENEVA (AP)—Western hopes for an East-West agreement to douse the Berlin powder keg dimmed Thursday as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko put off for another 24 hours his reply to the Allied compromise plan.

Soviet diplomats privately spread word that Gromyko's eventual reply would be to insist on including a clause stipulating a time limit on the Allied occupation of West Berlin.

Revival of this Soviet demand, already branded by the West as unacceptable as a basis of discussion, probably would break up the six-week-old conference.

A dispatch from Geneva by the Soviet news agency Tass, broadcast by Moscow radio, said the Western plan was based on the perpetuation of the Allied "occupation regime in Berlin."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, fearing failure on the Big Four foreign ministers level, was reported in favor of taking up the explosive Berlin problem at a summit meeting.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, however, want a measure of agreement in the Geneva talks before arranging a meeting of government chiefs.

Gromyko sprang his request for a 24-hour postponement upon arrival at Lloyd's town house for lunch.

After the lunch, the U.S. delegation issued a statement saying that the discussion "brought no change in the current situation."

"Gromyko did not make clear why he wanted another 24-hour postponement," the U.S. statement said.

The foreign ministers will meet Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. at Gromyko's villa.

House Passes Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Thursday night passed a $3,542,600,000 foreign aid authorization bill. It represented a whittled down and partly redirected version of President Eisenhower's program.

Passage was by a vote of 271-142.

The bill was cut $366,800,000 below Eisenhower's recommendation.

In a surprise move Thursday, the House voted to knock out 100 million dollars in loan authorizations.

Even without this added economic aid, the bill slants foreign aid more toward economic, and less toward military assistance. It provides for a powerful new office, outside the foreign aid administration, to keep a sharp watch against any waste or corruption in the program.

The bill now goes to the Senate, where a different version has been put together by the Foreign Relations Committee, but not yet acted on by the chamber itself.

Brigitte Bardot Wed To French Actor

LOUVECIENNES, France (UPI)—French actress Brigitte Bardot, looking like a teen-ager in a peppermint dress with a discreet neckline, was married for the second time Thursday in a home-town ceremony delayed briefly by tears and foot-stamping rage at intruders.

The groom was up-and-coming matinee idol Jacques Charrier, leading man in her latest film. Reports had been rife for several days that the marriage was in the offing or already had taken place.

"Corpse" Routs Two Bus Riders

ROME (UPI)—Two young men who saw a "corpse" get out of a coffin—on top of a bus—were in a hospital Thursday recovering from injuries they received when they jumped off the bus.

It happened on the bus route between Rome and the village of Albano. The bus was crowded so one of the passengers sat on the roof, next to a coffin being transported from Rome. When it began to rain, the passenger took shelter inside the coffin.

The two young men then found places on top of the bus as the vehicle became more crowded. They jumped when the coffin opened and the first bus top rider emerged and asked sleepily where they were.

Buildings Put To Torch In Bloody African Riots

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—An estimated 40,000 Africans rioted in Durban Thursday night as panic-stricken white Europeans fled their homes.

At least two natives were reported killed as Africans fought police, blocked roads, smashed beer halls and streamed into the center of this port city in a giant riot that erupted as a protest against a law forbidding natives to brew their own beer.

Scores of police were injured in fist fights and gun battles that swept across a 10-square-mile area of the city. Sixteen buildings and a number of Indian - owned shops and buses were put to the torch.

The day-long "beer riots" slackened off a bit late in the afternoon but the violence was resumed Thursday evening when several white policemen and a reporter were trapped in a Cato Manor beer hall by rioters.

Police charges failed to set the men free, and the rioters set the building on fire. The fate of those inside was not immediately known.

The fighting spread from the native quarter north of Durban to the south end. Police carrying fixed bayonets and automatic weapons rushed into the trouble areas.

There were unconfirmed reports that the natives had received more guns with which to fight police, and were using them against police tear gas attacks.

It was the worst rioting since approximately 150 persons died in clashes between Africans and Indians in 1949. Non-whites outnumber whites by about three-to-one in this city of 500,000 population.

U.S. Treats Plane Attack As Isolated Case Of "Banditry"

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said Thursday the Communist attack on an American Navy patrol plane over the Sea of Japan will be treated as an isolated case of "lawless banditry."

He told a news conference that fighter escorts will not be ordered for future patrol flights unless there is a repetition of the Red attack.

McElroy thus rejected the demands of some congressmen that jet fighters accompany patrol flights near Communist countries to prevent a recurrence of the attack on a P4M Mercator over the Sea of Japan.

He said instructions still stand that American patrol flights are to be carried out in a manner that is "not provocative."

The defense secretary said there still has been no positive identification of the nationality of the attacking planes. But he said the geography of the incident indicates the attack was made by "irresponsible jet fighters" from the North Korean air force.

McElroy, under questioning, described as "ridiculous" a furor over whether some of the American plane's guns were out of action because needed spare parts were lacking.

He repeated a Pentagon statement that the guns in question had been dismantled to make room for extra reconnaissance gear. McElroy said this made the spare parts issue "ridiculous, because you wouldn't have put in the parts anyhow."

A Navy spokesman had said the attack on the American plane "was an act of lawless banditry analogous to any other act of criminality—an isolated case as of now—and will be treated as such."

He made the statement after top-level conferences with Navy and Defense Department officials.

The Navy issued the statement after Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) said he got the impression from Vice Adm. Wallace Beakley, deputy chief of naval operations for war readiness, that the Navy was sending jet fighters to escort patrol planes on some flights.

CBS Head Opposes Equal-Time Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — CBS President Frank Stanton said Thursday the people will be blacked out from political news on radio and television if all candidates must be given equal time on newscasts.

There just isn't enough time to go around to all the fringe candidates, he told a Senate Commerce subcommittee. Therefore not even the major ones could get any time.

The subcommittee is considering legislation that would overcome the Federal Communications Commission decision requiring equal time on news shows, as well as on regular political broadcasts.

Queen Elizabeth And Prince Philip Arrive In Canada

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip got fair weather and a colorful formal greeting at a hilltop airfield as they arrived Thursday to start a 45-day tour of Canada.

The smiling Queen, wearing a jade green topcoat and matching hat stepped from the huge black, silver and white Comet IV jet into bright sunshine at Torbay Airport. She told diplomats on hand to greet her that she had seen fog all along the coast and was glad that the weather turned good for her arrival here.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker flew here from Ottawa for the arrival of the royal couple, along with other officials. The Queen was accorded a 21-gun salute. A 47-piece Royal Navy band played "God Save the Queen."

Ike Requests Funds For Atom Smasher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower asked Congress Thursday for money to start construction of the world's largest linear atom smasher at Stanford University.

His request was included in a message asking for a 168 million dollars increase in plant acquisition and construction funds for the AEC.

Court Nullifies Faubus' Order Closing Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A three-judge federal court dealt Gov. Orval E. Faubus a telling blow Thursday in his fight against racial integration of Little Rock's public high schools.

It declared a state school-closing law unconstitutional and the Little Rock School Board moved quickly with plans for reopening the four schools in the fall.

Faubus, who closed the schools last fall with legislative and popular Little Rock backing, conceded it looked as if he had lost his authority to keep the schools closed.

The federal court reminded the school board it is under a "continuing mandate" to integrate the schools.

Thursday's court action enjoined Faubus, the board and other public officials from interfering with the "approved plan for the gradual integration" of all schools in the Little Rock district.

The Little Rock School Board, through its president, Everett Tucker Jr., announced it would proceed on the premise all schools here would be opened in the fall.

De Valera Elected By Wide Margin

DUBLIN (AP)—Eamon de Valera, one of Ireland's greats, was elected president Thursday night. The unofficial count showed he was in by a wide margin over Gen. Sean MacEoin.

The 77-year-old, New York born "Dev," now 77 and nearly blind, had ruled Ireland for 40 years as a revolutionary and politician before he stepped out to the largely ceremonial presidency.

The complete count from Wednesday's national election gave De Valera 538,058 votes to 417,482 for Maceoin.

Senate Group Approves Promotion For O'Donnell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, known to the Air Force as "Rosie," won 12-1 approval Thursday from the Senate Armed Services Committee to command the Pacific air forces.

He achieved the one-sided victory over the determined opposition of the only woman senator, Margaret Chase Smith(R-Maine). The Senate is expected to act soon.

O'Donnell's new job, for which Eisenhower nominated him on May 7, carries the four stars of a full general. He has been serving as Air Force chief of personnel.

Mrs. Smith, herself a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, fought O'Donnell on the grounds that he had smeared her reputation and leaked information to a columnist-commentator to damage her.

O'Donnell and Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas testified to the committee on the charges behind closed doors.

They both denied the charges emphatically, Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) reported.

Russell said the only vote against O'Donnell was by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), and it was a proxy since Byrd did not attend the session.

One senator, asking that his name not be used, said the information reported to have been leaked was that Mrs. Smith had sought an assignment as head of the Women's Air Force, a post that would mean her promotion to a full colonel in the reserve.

Russell said O'Donnell denied any columnist had learned anything from him.

La. Governor Flees Clinic, Intercepted

Fights And Curses As Deputies Drag Him To Institution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana sheriff's deputies dragged a fighting and cursing Gov. Earl K. Long to the state mental hospital at Mandeville, La., Thursday night.

Long screamed, "God damn, God damn, God damn" as deputies pushed him into a big white sedan and sped eastward to the hospital, located on the shore of Lake Pontchartrain.

A court-appointed commision examined Long in the courthouse after he was intercepted at the East Baton Rouge Parish (county) line.

Long skipped out of Ochsner Foundation Hospital at New Orleans late Thursday afternoon and sped toward Baton Rouge, where he intended to return actively to the chief executive's chair.

Judge Fred Leblanc of Baton Rouge signed the order which committed Long to the Mandeville hospital.

First Refused To Leave Car

Long talked quietly to the doctors who examined him. He had first refused to get out of the car that brought him to the courthouse.

The sulphur-tongued, 63-year-old Long, who entered Ochsner late Wednesday night after arriving from Galveston, Tex., told hospital officials he wanted to leave for a "day or so" and return Sunday.

But Allan Davis, information officer for the hospital, summed up Ochsner's feeling:

"It looks like we have lost our tenant."

Long sped away from the hospital in a black sedan, accompanied only by state troopers, Long's wife and Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, Louisiana's adjutant general, left the hospital about a half-hour before the governor slipped out the back door.

An authoritative source in Baton Rouge — who asked to remain unidentified—told newsmen Long, who was held in a Galveston psychiatric clinic for 2½ weeks before his release Wednesday, "had gotten a whole lot worse and may have to be committed."

The source indicated Long might be committed to a state mental institution.

Mentioned "Surgery"

Dr. Edward Leveroos, director of Foundation Hospital, told newsmen after Long left the governor indicated he would return Sunday night "and he spoke about some surgery done at that time."

Long was defiant during his 2½-week stay at the John Sealy Medical Center in Galveston. Probate Judge Hugh Gibson, acting on the governor's claim he was removed from his Baton Rouge mansion by force May 30, ordered him released from protective custody of the hospital.

Long told newsmen before he stepped aboard the Louisiana Air National Guard plane at Galveston Wednesday he intended to exercise his authority as governor when he reached Louisiana.

Red Jets Buzz Iran Airliner

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two Soviet MIG fighters buzzed an Iranian airliner five times Wednesday when it strayed over the Baltic, an airline spokesman reported here Thursday night. The plane's copilot said it was a close call.

The plane later was also intercepted by two British jets over an air defense zone between East and West Germany.

The incidents occurred while the two-engine airliner, piloted by an American, Robert Chadwick, was on a ferry flight from Copenhagen to Teheran via Frankfurt, without passengers.

One of the Soviet planes was only 50 yards away before it turned off again, said copilot Adi Zahn. "I was not scared about shooting, but I really feared a collision."

He said winds forced the plane off course.

After the incident the Iranian plane contacted the Hamburg airport, which guided it back to Western territory. It passed into the West over a 30-mile wide air defense identification zone and two British jets were sent up to investigate. They did not buzz the airliner, and left after identification was made.

WASHINGTON (AP) — CBS President Frank Stanton said Thursday the people will be blacked out from political news on radio and television if all candidates must be given equal time on newscasts.

There just isn't enough time to go around to all the fringe candidates, he told a Senate Commerce subcommittee. Therefore not even the major ones could get any time.

The subcommittee is considering legislation that would overcome the Federal Communications Commission decision requiring equal time on news shows, as well as on regular political broadcasts.

Queen Elizabeth And Prince Philip Arrive In Canada

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip got fair weather and a colorful formal greeting at a hilltop airfield as they arrived Thursday to start a 45-day tour of Canada.

The smiling Queen, wearing a jade green topcoat and matching hat stepped from the huge black, silver and white Comet IV jet into bright sunshine at Torbay Airport. She told diplomats on hand to greet her that she had seen fog all along the coast and was glad that the weather turned good for her arrival here.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker flew here from Ottawa for the arrival of the royal couple, along with other officials. The Queen was accorded a 21-gun salute. A 47-piece Royal Navy band played "God Save the Queen."

Ike Requests Funds For Atom Smasher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower asked Congress Thursday for money to start construction of the world's largest linear atom smasher at Stanford University.

His request was included in a message asking for a 168 million dollars increase in plant acquisition and construction funds for the AEC.

Court Nullifies Faubus' Order Closing Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A three-judge federal court dealt Gov. Orval E. Faubus a telling blow Thursday in his fight against racial integration of Little Rock's public high schools.

It declared a state school-closing law unconstitutional and the Little Rock School Board moved quickly with plans for reopening the four schools in the fall.

Faubus, who closed the schools last fall with legislative and popular Little Rock backing, conceded it looked as if he had lost his authority to keep the schools closed.

The federal court reminded the school board it is under a "continuing mandate" to integrate the schools.

Thursday's court action enjoined Faubus, the board and other public officials from interfering with the "approved plan for the gradual integration" of all schools in the Little Rock district.

The Little Rock School Board, through its president, Everett Tucker Jr., announced it would proceed on the premise all schools here would be opened in the fall.

De Valera Elected By Wide Margin

DUBLIN (AP)—Eamon de Valera, one of Ireland's greats, was elected president Thursday night. The unofficial count showed he was in by a wide margin over Gen. Sean MacEoin.

The 77-year-old, New York born "Dev," now 77 and nearly blind, had ruled Ireland for 40 years as a revolutionary and politician before he stepped out to the largely ceremonial presidency.

The complete count from Wednesday's national election gave De Valera 538,058 votes to 417,482 for Maceoin.

Senate Group Approves Promotion For O'Donnell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, known to the Air Force as "Rosie," won 12-1 approval Thursday from the Senate Armed Services Committee to command the Pacific air forces.

He achieved the one-sided victory over the determined opposition of the only woman senator, Margaret Chase Smith(R-Maine). The Senate is expected to act soon.

O'Donnell's new job, for which Eisenhower nominated him on May 7, carries the four stars of a full general. He has been serving as Air Force chief of personnel.

Mrs. Smith, herself a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, fought O'Donnell on the grounds that he had smeared her reputation and leaked information to a columnist-commentator to damage her.

O'Donnell and Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas testified to the committee on the charges behind closed doors.

They both denied the charges emphatically, Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) reported.

Russell said the only vote against O'Donnell was by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), and it was a proxy since Byrd did not attend the session.

One senator, asking that his name not be used, said the information reported to have been leaked was that Mrs. Smith had sought an assignment as head of the Women's Air Force, a post that would mean her promotion to a full colonel in the reserve.

Russell said O'Donnell denied any columnist had learned anything from him.

La. Governor Flees Clinic, Intercepted

Fights And Curses As Deputies Drag Him To Institution

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana sheriff's deputies dragged a fighting and cursing Gov. Earl K. Long to the state mental hospital at Mandeville, La., Thursday night.

Long screamed, "God damn, God damn, God damn" as deputies pushed him into a big white sedan and sped eastward to the hospital, located on the shore of Lake Pontchartrain.

A court-appointed commision examined Long in the courthouse after he was intercepted at the East Baton Rouge Parish (county) line.

Long skipped out of Ochsner Foundation Hospital at New Orleans late Thursday afternoon and sped toward Baton Rouge, where he intended to return actively to the chief executive's chair.

Judge Fred Leblanc of Baton Rouge signed the order which committed Long to the Mandeville hospital.

First Refused To Leave Car

Long talked quietly to the doctors who examined him. He had first refused to get out of the car that brought him to the courthouse.

The sulphur-tongued, 63-year-old Long, who entered Ochsner late Wednesday night after arriving from Galveston, Tex., told hospital officials he wanted to leave for a "day or so" and return Sunday.

But Allan Davis, information officer for the hospital, summed up Ochsner's feeling:

"It looks like we have lost our tenant."

Long sped away from the hospital in a black sedan, accompanied only by state troopers, Long's wife and Maj. Gen. Raymond Hufft, Louisiana's adjutant general, left the hospital about a half-hour before the governor slipped out the back door.

An authoritative source in Baton Rouge — who asked to remain unidentified—told newsmen Long, who was held in a Galveston psychiatric clinic for 2½ weeks before his release Wednesday, "had gotten a whole lot worse and may have to be committed."

The source indicated Long might be committed to a state mental institution.

Mentioned "Surgery"

Dr. Edward Leveroos, director of Foundation Hospital, told newsmen after Long left the governor indicated he would return Sunday night "and he spoke about some surgery done at that time."

Long was defiant during his 2½-week stay at the John Sealy Medical Center in Galveston. Probate Judge Hugh Gibson, acting on the governor's claim he was removed from his Baton Rouge mansion by force May 30, ordered him released from protective custody of the hospital.

Long told newsmen before he stepped aboard the Louisiana Air National Guard plane at Galveston Wednesday he intended to exercise his authority as governor when he reached Louisiana.

Red Jets Buzz Iran Airliner

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Two Soviet MIG fighters buzzed an Iranian airliner five times Wednesday when it strayed over the Baltic, an airline spokesman reported here Thursday night. The plane's copilot said it was a close call.

The plane later was also intercepted by two British jets over an air defense zone between East and West Germany.

The incidents occurred while the two-engine airliner, piloted by an American, Robert Chadwick, was on a ferry flight from Copenhagen to Teheran via Frankfurt, without passengers.

One of the Soviet planes was only 50 yards away before it turned off again, said copilot Adi Zahn. "I was not scared about shooting, but I really feared a collision."

He said winds forced the plane off course.

After the incident the Iranian plane contacted the Hamburg airport, which guided it back to Western territory. It passed into the West over a 30-mile wide air defense identification zone and two British jets were sent up to investigate. They did not buzz the airliner, and left after identification was made.

Deluge Follows Miami Tornado

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thunderstorms and 60 m.p.h. wind gusts lashed Miami Thursday in the wake of a tornado which injured at least 100 persons and did damage estimated at five million dollars.

The Miami Weather Bureau recorded 6.40 inches of rain from 7 p.m. Wednesday night to 1 p.m. Thursday. The downpour showed no signs of slackening as weary Red Cross workers gave aid to over 1,000 stricken families.

At least three homes were destroyed, more than 100 suffered major damage and about 500 were slightly damaged, the Red Cross said. Almost 100 business establishments were heavily damaged.

The vicious black funnel swirled in from Biscayne Bay shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night and leapfrogged on a corkscrew 12-mile course until it reached the 79th St. causeway area in the northeast section of Miami.

From there it roared across Biscayne Bay until it reached land again in a luxurious 125th St. residential section.

Terrified Miamians dived under beds and huddled against interior walls as the tornado struck.

Buildings Put To Torch In Bloody African Riots

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—An estimated 40,000 Africans rioted in Durban Thursday night as panic-stricken white Europeans fled their homes.

At least two natives were reported killed as Africans fought police, blocked roads, smashed beer halls and streamed into the center of this port city in a giant riot that erupted as a protest against a law forbidding natives to brew their own beer.

Scores of police were injured in fist fights and gun battles that swept across a 10-square-mile area of the city. Sixteen buildings and a number of Indian - owned shops and buses were put to the torch.

The day-long "beer riots" slackened off a bit late in the afternoon but the violence was resumed Thursday evening when several white policemen and a reporter were trapped in a Cato Manor beer hall by rioters.

Police charges failed to set the men free, and the rioters set the building on fire. The fate of those inside was not immediately known.

The fighting spread from the native quarter north of Durban to the south end. Police carrying fixed bayonets and automatic weapons rushed into the trouble areas.

There were unconfirmed reports that the natives had received more guns with which to fight police, and were using them against police tear gas attacks.

It was the worst rioting since approximately 150 persons died in clashes between Africans and Indians in 1949. Non-whites outnumber whites by about three-to-one in this city of 500,000 population.

Conferees Trim Housing Bill, Hope To Avert Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees late Thursday agreed on a compromise $1,375,000,000 omnibus housing bill. The amount, less than either the House or Senate had voted earlier, was trimmed in an obvious effort to avert a veto by President Eisenhower.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), head of the Senate conferees, said the measure also was below the total originally asked by Eisenhower and that the President should sign it. But he said he had no word on whether Eisenhower would do so.

Some Republicans disputed this and insisted the compromise went well beyond what the administration wanted. They refused to sign the conference report.

On the other hand, two Democratic senators, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania and Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, said they were inclined not to sign because not enough authority was provided for slum clearance projects.

The conferees cut down the totals in the bill largely by reducing the number of years the various projects are authorized to continue. Their work was part of a general drive by congressional Democratic leaders to cut back various economic bills in order to blunt Republican charges of wild spending.

Jaques Acquitted By Federal Jury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal jury Thursday acquitted Keith H. Jaques of violating the Corrupt Practices Act in the West Virginia campaign last fall of his former boss, Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr.

Jaques, now an aide to Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah), was accused of transporting and distributing unsigned political material. Moore, a Republican, defeated his Democratic opponent, former Rep. Robert H. Mollohan.

The jury found Jaques innocent on both counts after deliberating 2 hours and 40 minutes.

Jaques had testified that Moore had threatened to fire him unless he transported pamphlets resembling the United Mine Workers Journal to West Virginia. The pamphlets accused Mollohan of taking kickbacks and implied that Moore had UMW support.

Philadelphia's Old Dock Street Thing Of Past

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Old Dock Street, a teeming, picturesque and pungent part of Colonial America, Thursday became a thing of the past.

Few wistful, sentimental tears were shed as a large assembly of officials, topped by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, intoned the obituary of a marketing area as old-fashioned as powdered wigs and jeweled snuffboxes.

When Benjamin Franklin came to town, if historians are right, he trod the cobblestones of this waterfront expanse, intent on making a name and a fortune. His first tramp up Market Street became all the more memorable because a girl—the one he married—was in stitches at the sight of frugal Ben stalking along, a loaf of bread under one arm.

Benson made some timely remarks about Franklin and his astuteness. Noting that Franklin was a founder of the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture, Benson said that if Franklin were alive "he would surely support what you are doing, and, in all probability he, not I, would be making these remarks at the dedication of this wonderful new market."

The secretary was speaking of the 100-million-dollar food distribution center replacing Dock Street. The first section was dedicated with flag-raising ceremonies by the Marines, band music and speeches.

Dock Street, no more than a mile from Independence Square, is part of the first tract of a huge redevelopment project that will transform the old city area from a down-at-heels commercial district into a neighborhood with class.

Girl Who Slew Parents Insane

MAUSTON, Wis. (AP) — Jane Dakin, 17, the town bright girl who discussed the themes of Hamlet and practiced a church music concert before she shot her parents to death last Dec. 1, was committed to a state mental hospital Thursday.

Jane, a high school senior, who told authorities she heard voices telling her she was crazy and wanted to be locked up for the rest of her life, was acquitted of first - degree murder charges Wednesday night. The Circuit Court jury of 11 men and a woman found she was innocent by reason of insanity at the time of the killings.

Calm and unemotional, dressed in the same flowered dress she wore in court, Jane was taken to Winnebago State Hospital.

King Leaves Hospital

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein left the hospital Thursday after a checkup with medical orders to take a month's complete rest. A palace announcement said that on May 30 Hussein, 24, had inflammation in his breathing tubes and although the checkup showed "satisfactory improvement," he must take four weeks rest.

Dulles Island?

OTTAWA (AP) — A suggestion was made in the House of Commons Thursday that Duck Island, where the late John Foster Dulles had a summer home, be renamed Dulles Island. The island is in Canadian territory at Lake Ontario's eastern end. The former U.S. secretary of state left the island to Mrs. Dulles.

Tawes Acts To Improve Conditions At Patuxent

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes moved Thursday to improve conditions at Patuxent Institution in three areas.

Tawes started in motion three committees to study and recommend solutions to the unique prison's three major needs—greater security from escapes, a more adequate psychiatric staff and a clearer definition of the institution's place in the makeup of the state government.

The governor's action was taken at a two-closed meeting with state budget, prison and personnel officials and psychiatrists from the institution, a psychiatric prison at Jessup for treatment of "defective delinquents."

The meeting resulted from an escape of 34 inmates from Patuxent on April 5 and a subsequent disagreement between budget officials and the institution head regarding the cause of the break.

Dr. Harold M. Boslow said custodial help was the primary cause. But budget officials said those who run the reform school aren't "security minded" and called for a clarification on the institution's status in relation to the State prison system.

The institution was created by the 1951 General Assembly and began operations in 1955. It was the first institution of its kind where delinquents are committed under court orders for indefinite periods and released when psychiatrists feel they are ready to resume their roles in society.

After the session, Lloyd L. Simpkins, the governor's executive assistant, announced the three major problems uncovered and the formation of committees to study them.

He also disclosed that Tawes will make his first personal inspection of the institution soon, probably next week.

The governor named the superintendents of the three Maryland prisons to work with two federal prison officials in studying the institution's security and making recommendations.

On this committee will be James V. Bennett, director of the federal Bureau of Prisons; Myrl Alexander, his assistant director; Vernon L. Pepersack, warden of the Maryland Penitentiary; William F. Steiner, warden of the House of Correction, and Clement J. Ferling, superintendent of the Reformatory for Males.

Regarding the professional staff, Simpkins said institution officials are unable to attract psychiatrists to fill vacancies. He noted that the pay of Patuxent professionals cannot be increased without boosting the salary of every state employe in their class, but he said the governor's committee will investigate the possibility of creating a special classification for institution psychiatrists.

Tawes said he will ask Dr. Isadore Tuerk, superintendent of Spring Grove State Hospital, and Prof. John C. Whitehorn of Johns Hopkins University, to head this committee.

The third major problem, Simpkins said, involves confusion concerning the authority and responsibility of Patuxent officials under the law.

He said it was agreed there is a need for a more orderly chain of operation and line of control—to spell out whether Dr. Boslow is directly responsible to the advisory board, the Department of Correction or the governor.

Tawes plans to ask Senate President George W. Della (D-Balto 6th) to appoint a committee to study this problem and recommend legislation that may solve it.

Rural Women Get Lesson On Crime-Busting

COLLEGE PARK Md. (AP)—Crime prevention was the unusual course served up Thursday to Maryland ladies attending the diversified Rural Women's Short Course.

Thomas J. McAndrews, assistant special agent in charge of the Washington field office of the FBI, told of some of that crime-busting agency's activities.

He advised the assembly in the University of Maryland Armory here that the average citizen can be of great help in tracking down lawbreakers.

Giving an accurate eye-witness account of persons and cars involved in crimes is of invaluable aid to police, he said.

In other activity, the women saw the pageant put on by 4-H Club members and narrated by Francis E. Gardiner Jr. of Davidsonville.

Among the several specialized courses Thursday was one on leadership, instructed by Robert L. Bruce. He is assistant county agent leader at the university.

Bruce said that one of the problems of growing, changing neighborhoods is that they frequently bring a clash of interests between two groups—those settled there for some time, and the newcomers. This calls for the best type of leadership to work together for the community's good, he said.

On Friday, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university, will present pins to 54 women who have attended the "summer college for women" for eight years. A group of 94 will receive certificates denoting four years' attendance at the six-day sessions.

Important Factors Cited In Choosing Your Home

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 18—With nearly 10 per cent of our population changing locations each year, these people are faced with the question: "Where shall we establish our permanent home? I shall not recommend any one state. Every state has its advantages and disadvantages. Much depends upon the health of the parents and children—whether they should go to a dry climate or a normal climate—to a hot climate or a cool climate. This is something you should talk over with your local doctor before making a decision.

Large Vs. Small Cities

I, however, will take the responsibility of advising you to avoid big cities such as New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, New Orleans, Cleveland, Detroit, and perhaps San Francisco and Los Angeles. If you have young children, I would advise you not to locate even in any of the suburbs of these. With a total population of over 20,000,000 people, they could all expect destruction in event of World War III. Only a few cities might be destroyed; but no one knows which ones.

I do not expect to see a World War III for at least ten or more years, but the chances are that the United States will sometime be in some major war. Such a war will be fought by missiles of various kinds carrying atomic warheads. This means that one or more of the above cities will be wiped out during the first 24 hours of the war. No advance notice will be given. The surprise attacks will come as suddenly as that on Pearl Harbor. In the same way, our enemies will strike while our delegates and theirs are discussing possible peace.

Advantages Of Small Cities

Were I looking for a job today, I should choose some small city or town fifty to one hundred miles from one of the ten big cities mentioned above. My reasons: (1) Such smaller places will never be targets of intercontinental missiles. (2) Their churches, schools, and clubs are much better for your family's future. (3) The cost-of-living is less than in a big city. (4) Your living conditions—whether in a small house or an apartment—will be much better for the rent you pay. (5) Your children will make better friends — especially if you join some church and the children attend Sunday School.

Land Prices And Profits

The price of land varies largely with the population of the community. This means you will get more real health and joy for a dollar invested in a small city. Furthermore, land in most large cities is at its peak for this cycle; while land in smaller cities should still be on the way up. Be sure to settle in a progressive and growing location, not one that has seen its best days.

When buying a home be sure to get enough land. Buy a small house, but get an extra adjoining lot if possible. Buy them on the right side of a well-drained and growing city or town. Every community has its growing and most "aristocratic" portion. Start out with the prestige of living in the right section with the best neighbors—who own their homes.

Advantages Of "College Towns"

Personally, if my wife and I were a young couple, all else being equal, we would settle in a "college town." There are nearly 500 scattered throughout the nation. These small cities and towns have especially good families and attractive atmosphere. These always have concerts and lectures which you can attend. If you can find such a community on a lake or river, which will give you employment in the line for which you are best fitted, this may be the place to settle.

What about the subdivisions which are springing up from Richmond southward to Florida and from Atlanta westward to Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona? Many of these are attractive, but before buying see with your own eyes what you are to get for your money. Insist upon good drainage, a fireproof house built of sand blocks which is also termite proof. Visit several subdivisions before you buy. Spend at least a month looking about in the state which you select. One more thought: Buy a house near enough to a hotel or restaurant so that you can walk if you wish to get out for a meal.

Lax Security

HULL, England (UPI) — Thirteen Hull University students tunneled under a fence and crawled through barbed wire barricades to raise the Icelandic flag at a Royal Air force missile base and show up the laxity of RAF security measures. The RAF said the site has not been turned into a missile base and "there is no need yet for security."

Huge, Supersonic Jetliners Foreseen

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—One of Britain's top jet experts said Wednesday a giant airliner capable of flying 130 passengers from London to New York in 98 minutes can be built with current engineering "know-how."

Dr. Robin R. Jamison, chief of the Ramjet department of Bristol-Siddeley Engines of England, described the long-range supersonic transport in a speech for delivery before the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences at its summer meeting.

The powerplant of the aircraft would combine turbojet engines with ramjets—thus far used only to power missiles, Dr. Jamison said.

"Such an aircraft," he said, "offers a three-fold increase over present-day speeds and could be built within the scope of existing engineering techniques."

Bomb Search Ends

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI) —Kenneth Westall's 19 year search for the bomb the Germans dropped on his house in World War II was over Thursday. Westall found it in the attic above his bedroom Wednesday. It was defused by a bomb crew.

Television sets are found in more than two-thirds of all homes in the United States.

Protestantism Makes Big Gain In Puerto Rico

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — A half century of Protestant cooperation in Puerto Rico is paying off with improved health, better working conditions and greatly increased church membership, religious leaders report.

Some Protestant churches operate missions in Puerto Rico. Others have helped Puerto Ricans establish their own churches. Various denominations operate hospitals, schools, clinics and farm cooperatives. One runs a major university.

Dr. David Barry executive director of the New York City Mission Society and an expert on Protestantism in Puerto Rico, said that the growth of Protestant churches on the island territory has been phenomena' in recent years, especially in the cities.

"Protestantism was a rural religion in Puerto Rico for a long time," he said, in an interview. "The Roman Catholics were firmly established in towns so the Protestants went to the rural areas at first. Now they are moving into the cities, where there is a growing Protestant middle class.

"Around San Juan, churches are springing up, one after another. It looks like the suburb of any big mainland city."

When Protestant groups first began active work in Puerto Rico, they divided the island up by denominations, Barry said. The Disciples of Christ were assigned the San Juan area, he said, while the Presbyterians went into the western area of the island, the Methodists into the south and the United Evangelical Church into the east.

As a result, Barry said, it is easy to determine the denomination of a Puerto Rican Protestant, simply by knowing the name of his home town.

The various Protestant groups joined recently in holding a strategy conference attended by high officials of the National Council of Churches. Delegates agreed on a program to improve cooperative efforts through a Protestant center. A Protestant chaplain at the University of Puerto Rico and stronger ministries to hospitals and other institutions.

Among the most active Protestant groups in Puerto Rico are the Methodists, the Presbyterians, the Disciples of Christ, the United Church of Christ and the Church of the Brethren. Many other groups also have major programs there.

The Presbyterians run the 2,500-student Inter - American University. They also operate a center in a hill - country rural slum, where they have launched a handcraft industry and an agricultural extension project for the breeding of pigs. The center also maintains a medical clinic and sends a social worker into remote areas.

The Congregational Christian Churches and the United Evangelical Church, which have formed the United Church of Christ, have a number of projects in Puerto Rico.

They help support a seminary where Puerto Rican ministers are trained. They operate Ryder hospital, which works with rural people and sends out clinic teams and dentists, one of whom has worked on the teeth of 90 patients in a single day.

The Congregationalists maintain a school of practical nursing and soon will open a new clinic for treatment of tropical diseases.

Puerto Ricans are taught cattle raising and experimental farming at the Yuquiyu Rural Life Community run by the Congregationalists in cooperation with the government.

The Methodist church is one of the largest of the Protestant bodies in Puerto Rico, with 8,100 full members, 5,000 preparatory members and 15,000 children in church schools.

Mickey Finn Burglar On FBI Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Wednesday added to its list of most wanted criminals a Mickey Finn burglar who preys on overweight women with alleged reducing pills "potentially as deadly as a gun."

The criminal, who began his crime career in New Orleans in 1922 by robbing a church poor box, is Walter Bernard O'Donnell.

The FBI said O'Donnell, a 57-year-old glib talker who speaks Spanish fluently, usually finds his victims by posing as a doctor in search of a room for rent. He interests the overweight woman in the so-called weight - reducing pills in his bag, persuades her to try them out, and whammo.

The FBI said several of the middle-aged women he has victimized have become seriously ill from O'Donnell's pills.

O'Donnell reportedly has operated his racket in Detroit and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C.; Wilmington, De.; Chicago, San Diego, Hollywood, Long Beach, Beverly Hills, San Bernardino, San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; Baltimore, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Ft. Lauderdale and Miami Beach, Fla., and St. Louis.

Many Churches In U.S. Have "Wooden Curtain"

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The sign in front of the church said "Gate of Heaven". But you couldn't get inside. The doors were locked.

That's the custodial situation at many American churches today—they keep those portals barred most of the time.

They've thrown up a "wooden curtain" against private weekday worshippers, says the Rev. Graham Hodges, of Emmanuel Congregational Church, Watertown, N.Y.

But there's a move on to remove the barrier, and a growing proportion of churches are beginning to stay open seven days a week, instead of just for regular services.

"The practice is spreading rapidly, especially in the last year or so," said a spokesman for the Open Church Assn., of Gloucester, Mass.

More than 13,000 Protestant churches across the country have notified the association in recent years that they've begun keeping their doors open so anyone may enter for prayer and meditation.

An unknown number of others have started doing so on their own.

"There are many times when only the quiet atmosphere of the sanctuary creates the setting to meet the deep needs of the soul," said Roy E. Coombs, the association's executive vice president.

Generally, the locked - door policy on weekdays has prevailed most widely among Protestant and Jewish places of worship. Most Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches traditionally remain open daily from dawn to night.

The value of the open-door custom is being increasingly noted among various groups.

"Protestants are recognizing the importance of the use of the church for private devotions," Coombs said.

"Nothing seems quite so incongruous with the spirit of the church as a building standing with doors locked on every day of the week but Sunday," says the Protestant weekly, the Christian-Evangelist.

Mainly, it's the fear of thefts, vandalism or an accidentally started fire that has kept the church doors shut during inactive periods. But how much protection the padlock gives is questioned.

The Rev. Francis Michels, of Athens, Ill., said two churches in his community which stay locked have both experienced burglaries, while three that are never closed have suffered no such invasions.

Protestantism Makes Big Gain In Puerto Rico

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — A half century of Protestant cooperation in Puerto Rico is paying off with improved health, better working conditions and greatly increased church membership, religious leaders report.

Some Protestant churches operate missions in Puerto Rico. Others have helped Puerto Ricans establish their own churches. Various denominations operate hospitals, schools, clinics and farm cooperatives. One runs a major university.

Dr. David Barry executive director of the New York City Mission Society and an expert on Protestantism in Puerto Rico, said that the growth of Protestant churches on the island territory has been phenomena' in recent years, especially in the cities.

"Protestantism was a rural religion in Puerto Rico for a long time," he said, in an interview. "The Roman Catholics were firmly established in towns so the Protestants went to the rural areas at first. Now they are moving into the cities, where there is a growing Protestant middle class.

"Around San Juan, churches are springing up, one after another. It looks like the suburb of any big mainland city."

When Protestant groups first began active work in Puerto Rico, they divided the island up by denominations, Barry said. The Disciples of Christ were assigned the San Juan area, he said, while the Presbyterians went into the western area of the island, the Methodists into the south and the United Evangelical Church into the east.

As a result, Barry said, it is easy to determine the denomination of a Puerto Rican Protestant, simply by knowing the name of his home town.

The various Protestant groups joined recently in holding a strategy conference attended by high officials of the National Council of Churches. Delegates agreed on a program to improve cooperative efforts through a Protestant center. A Protestant chaplain at the University of Puerto Rico and stronger ministries to hospitals and other institutions.

Among the most active Protestant groups in Puerto Rico are the Methodists, the Presbyterians, the Disciples of Christ, the United Church of Christ and the Church of the Brethren. Many other groups also have major programs there.

The Presbyterians run the 2,500-student Inter - American University. They also operate a center in a hill - country rural slum, where they have launched a handcraft industry and an agricultural extension project for the breeding of pigs. The center also maintains a medical clinic and sends a social worker into remote areas.

The Congregational Christian Churches and the United Evangelical Church, which have formed the United Church of Christ, have a number of projects in Puerto Rico.

They help support a seminary where Puerto Rican ministers are trained. They operate Ryder hospital, which works with rural people and sends out clinic teams and dentists, one of whom has worked on the teeth of 90 patients in a single day.

The Congregationalists maintain a school of practical nursing and soon will open a new clinic for treatment of tropical diseases.

Puerto Ricans are taught cattle raising and experimental farming at the Yuquiyu Rural Life Community run by the Congregationalists in cooperation with the government.

The Methodist church is one of the largest of the Protestant bodies in Puerto Rico, with 8,100 full members, 5,000 preparatory members and 15,000 children in church schools.

Mickey Finn Burglar On FBI Wanted List

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI Wednesday added to its list of most wanted criminals a Mickey Finn burglar who preys on overweight women with alleged reducing pills "potentially as deadly as a gun."

The criminal, who began his crime career in New Orleans in 1922 by robbing a church poor box, is Walter Bernard O'Donnell.

The FBI said O'Donnell, a 57-year-old glib talker who speaks Spanish fluently, usually finds his victims by posing as a doctor in search of a room for rent. He interests the overweight woman in the so-called weight - reducing pills in his bag, persuades her to try them out, and whammo.

The FBI said several of the middle-aged women he has victimized have become seriously ill from O'Donnell's pills.

O'Donnell reportedly has operated his racket in Detroit and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C.; Wilmington, De.; Chicago, San Diego, Hollywood, Long Beach, Beverly Hills, San Bernardino, San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; Baltimore, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Ft. Lauderdale and Miami Beach, Fla., and St. Louis.

Many Churches In U.S. Have "Wooden Curtain"

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The sign in front of the church said "Gate of Heaven". But you couldn't get inside. The doors were locked.

That's the custodial situation at many American churches today—they keep those portals barred most of the time.

They've thrown up a "wooden curtain" against private weekday worshippers, says the Rev. Graham Hodges, of Emmanuel Congregational Church, Watertown, N.Y.

But there's a move on to remove the barrier, and a growing proportion of churches are beginning to stay open seven days a week, instead of just for regular services.

"The practice is spreading rapidly, especially in the last year or so," said a spokesman for the Open Church Assn., of Gloucester, Mass.

More than 13,000 Protestant churches across the country have notified the association in recent years that they've begun keeping their doors open so anyone may enter for prayer and meditation.

An unknown number of others have started doing so on their own.

"There are many times when only the quiet atmosphere of the sanctuary creates the setting to meet the deep needs of the soul," said Roy E. Coombs, the association's executive vice president.

Generally, the locked - door policy on weekdays has prevailed most widely among Protestant and Jewish places of worship. Most Roman Catholic and Orthodox churches traditionally remain open daily from dawn to night.

The value of the open-door custom is being increasingly noted among various groups.

"Protestants are recognizing the importance of the use of the church for private devotions," Coombs said.

"Nothing seems quite so incongruous with the spirit of the church as a building standing with doors locked on every day of the week but Sunday," says the Protestant weekly, the Christian-Evangelist.

Mainly, it's the fear of thefts, vandalism or an accidentally started fire that has kept the church doors shut during inactive periods. But how much protection the padlock gives is questioned.

Oil Is Spilled Into Baltimore Harbor By Ship

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Army engineers reported Thursday that the S. S. Pacific Ranger spilled oil into Baltimore harbor while taking on fuel oil Wednesday in violation of harbor pollution regulations.

A sister ship, the S. S. Pacific Star, was fined $2,000 last August in U.S. District Court on similar charges. Both ships are owned by the Compass Steamship Co. of New York.

An Army engineers spokesman said the Pacific Ranger was taking on 2,500 barrels of fuel oil. When she had received about 1,900 barrels, oil began spilling out the vents and over the side into the harbor. The Coast Guard was notified and took samples at the scene.

The chief engineer, Michael Katapodis of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was supervising the fueling, was chief engineer of the pacific Star when it was found guilty of pollution, the spokesman said.

He said that if laboratory reports justify grounds for prosecution, charges would be served on the ship the next time it arrives in Baltimore.

The Pacific Ranger sailed early Thursday for Galveston, Tex.

TORNADO FELLS TREES—Tornado winds ripped up these coconut palm trees, overturned a parked auto and caused minor damage to this house near Biscayne Bay, Miami, Fla., Wednesday night. The tornado skipped freakishly over the city, hitting lightly at several spots and then lashed down with full fury along the northeast bay area. An estimated 100 persons were injured. (AP Photofax)

D.C. Visitors Get Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A West Virginia professor and his family had a sunny surprise while waiting out a rainstorm at the Washington Monument Wednesday.

As William H. R. Wilkins, his wife and two sons were waiting at the monument Miss Summer Jubilee—Mary Lou Healy—drove up in a limousine and invited the astonished family to be her guests.

The Wilkins come from Philippi, W. Va., and it was their first visit to the nation's capital. They saw a lot of it.

The city's summer hostess had them taken on a helicopter ride to get an air view of the city. They stopped at the capitol and visited Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa). They had dinner in a seafood restaurant. They went for a boat ride down the Potomac River to Marshall Hall Amusement Park, where David, 12, and Daniel, 8, were given tickets for every ride in the place.

Wilkins is the new dean of Alderson Broaddus College.

Miss Healy will select a family at random once or twice a week for surprise sight-seeing trips. She'll do it until Labor Day.

Maryland Man Delivers First Missile-Borne Letter — President Eisenhower on Tuesday received Mr. Noble Upperman, of Silver Spring, Maryland, letter carrier, who then delivered the first letter to be sent by guided missile. The letter was "launched" 100 miles at sea in a Regulus I missile, directed to Mayport, Florida, where it landed on schedule, and proceeded on its route by commercial plane. The Maryland postman was accompanied to the White House by Postmaster General Summerfield.

President's New Science Adviser—The President has named Russian-born Dr. George B. Kistiakowsky (pronounced Kissty-yah-KOV-skee), a Harvard chemistry professor, to replace Dr. James R. Killian as his chief adviser on scientific matters. The job was created after the first Soviet sputnik orbited into space and brought a clamor for appointment of a U. S. missile czar. Kistiakowsky fought in the White Russian Army against the Bolsheviks, eventually escaped, first to Germany, then to the United States, became a U. S. citizen in 1933, became the world's foremost expert on explosives, created "Aunt Jemima," the amazing explosive powder of World War II and contrived the device that detonated the first atomic bomb.

Census Electronics. You, A Mere Dot!—Next year you're going to be just a magnetic dot on a piece of tape. In the 1950 census you were a hole in a punched card. But that's "horse-and-buggy" compared to the new electronic machine the Census Bureau proudly showed off the other day. On one tape the entire population of the United States can pass in review at a rapid rate and come out tabulated by sex, race, and age. Punched cards still are used on small special projects at the Bureau, in Suitland, Maryland. But for the 1960 census, it will be magnetic tape. The cards are too slow.

LONG WEEKEND

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Members of the Board of Public Works, with exception of State Auditor Edgar B. Sims, Monday voted in favor of a long weekend for statehouse employes for the July 4 holiday. State Treasurer Orel Skeen said he had proposed the extra day since the holiday fell on Saturday this year. The statehouse also will be closed this Saturday in observance of West Virginia Day.

Bar Backs Judge Retirement Rule

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A Maryland State Bar Assn. committee recommended Thursday retention of a constitutional requirement that judges retire at age 70, regardless of health or ability.

The report was submitted to the annual bar meeting by a special committee set up to consider whether judges should be allowed to continue in service under "qualified retirement."

A number of Maryland judges are nearing 70 and proposals were made that the rule be changed to permit their retention. The late Judge Charles Markell termed the regulation "constitutional senility."

The committee report pointed out there is no need to keep the elderly judges in service since the chief judge of the court of appeals has the power to shift active judges by special assignments to courts where they are needed.

Pilot Bails Out Of Jet, Rescued By Helicopter

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — A Navy pilot bailed out of his crippled jet plane Thursday and was taken from Chesapeake Bay by the crew of a helicopter.

The plane crashed near Golden Hill in southern Dorchester County.

A spokesman at Patuxent Naval Air Sattion identified the pilot of the F8U aircraft as Lt. Donald B. Pringle, 29. He lives at Solomons Island with his wife and two children.

Pringle was flying at 18,000 feet when the plane developed mechanical trouble. He radioed to the base and helicopters and ships were sent to the area from across the bay.

The pilot tried to nurse the plane back to Patuxent but had to eject himself after coming down below 10,000 feet.

Macmillan May Call For October Election

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is likely to hold general elections in October in the hope of winning a third term for his ruling Conservatives.

The nation must vote for a new Parliament not later than next May.

But political experts generally were agreed that Macmillan would not wait until then but would try to cash in on his efforts for a summit conference as well as on Britain's present booming prosperity by holding elections this fall.

One frequently mentioned date was Oct. 29—a Thursday, the traditional polling day in this country.

Judge Harris Affirms Ruling In Case

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris has affirmed the findings of the Workman's Compensation Commission in an unusual case involving the State Accident Fund and two injured employes of a Frostburg man.

The judge upheld the decision of the commission that there had been no legal cancellation of the policy held by Enoch P. Price Sr., of Frostburg, in connection with claims involving two employes and said they were eligible for compensation.

The background of the case shows that Enoch Price Sr., was the employer of John Laughney and Enoch Price Jr., who were injured when a car collided with the truck in which the two men were driver and passenger. The driver of the car in the wreck near Somerset July 18, 1958, was killed.

Laughney and young Price filed claims with the commission for compensation as a result of injuries sustained while in the course of their employment.

The State Accident Fund, insurer of Price, contended before the commission that the policy of compensation insurance held by Enoch Price Sr., had been cancelled with the SAF for non-payment of premiums on June 26, 1958.

The attorneys for the injured employes, Milton Gerson for Price, and Simon F. Reilly for Laughney, argued that the alleged cancellation of the insurance by the SAF was not in conformity with the procedure required by law.

The commission then found there had been no legal cancellation and ruled that compensation should be awarded.

Judge Harris Wednesday issued the opinion affirming the commission's findings that the policy had not legally been cancelled and that the two employes were entitled to awards.

Howard Holzer, of the attorney general's office, and Thomas B. Finan represented the employer and the insurer.

Driver In Fatal Crash Released To Military

Ronald Ray Jamison, 21, Hyndman, who will face two separate charges of manslaughter by motor vehicle in the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court, was turned over to military authorities yesterday.

Jamison was charged earlier this week with two counts of manslaughter and one count of reckless driving as a result of the fatal accident last Friday in which Robert James Shaffer, 22, and Charles Edgar Hyre, 20, both of Hyndman were killed. The one-car crash occurred at the foot of Baltimore Avenue.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, said yesterday Jamison was AWOL from the Navy, and is wanted by Naval authorities. He was turned over yesterday, but will be returned to Cumberland in October to face the motor vehicle charges.

Jamison was driving the car which failed to negotiate a left turn onto Long Hill, collided with a metal pole and then rammed into a telephone pole.

Both Shaffer and Hyre were killed instantly, while Jamison sustained injuries and was hospitalized at Memorial Hospital. He was released earlier this week.

Eight County Teachers Plan To Retire

The retirements of eight veteran Allegany County teachers were announced yesterday by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Miss Olive P. Simpson, head of the history department at Allegany High School, began her career in this county at Lower Town Creek Road School in 1912. She taught at John Humbird School and later moved to Allegany.

Also retiring will be another AHS department head, Arthur W. Taylor, who has been chairman of the mathematics section. Taylor began his teaching service in this county at Allegany County High School in 1924 and stayed there until 1937 as a mathematics instructor and department head. From 1937 to 1950 he was principal of Beall High School, and from 1950 to this year he was at Allegany.

Miss Grace Swanson, a special music teacher, began her career in 1923 on the faculty of Allegany County High School. In 1927 she became a special music teacher, instructing in various schools.

Mrs. Jessie Smith, fourth and fifth grade teacher at Midland School, will retire after being in the county system since 1917. The first year she was at McCoole School, and in 1917-18 was at Jackson School. Since 1918 she has been at Midland.

Mrs. Dora McLuckie has been the fifth and sixth grade teacher at Beall Elementary School from since 1955. She started teaching in the Allegany County system in 1912. From 1914 to 1916 she taught in West Virginia and from 1916 to 1917 in Frederick County. From 1923 to 1953, Mrs. McLuckie was on the faculty of the Barton School and from 1953 to 1954, Central Elementary School.

Two sisters will also retire from the faculty of Mt. Savage School, Miss Agnes Aldridge, sixth grade; and Miss Florence Aldridge, fourth grade.

Miss Agnes Aldridge started teaching in 1921 in Allegany County, and from 1922 to 1931 was at Barrelville School. From 1932 to 1940, Miss Aldridge was at Allegany Mines. The remainder of her service has been at Mt. Savage School.

Miss Florence Aldridge started in county schools in 1920, and since 1922 has been at Mt. Savage School.

Mrs. Edith Bracey, music and reading teacher at Carver School, taught at Mechanic Street School and since 1922 has been at Carver.

There are two and a half times as many traffic deaths on rural roads as on city streets.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Extra Poundage?

You have to admit — it took more than a week to acquire that extra weight!

Why then do you expect to correct the situation in a week or two? Yet, that is the attitude many women take—particularly those who follow "fad" diets. You know—the reducing stints in which you subsist only on hard boiled eggs and prunes, or juice diets, or lettuce leaves and lamb chops. The diet is usually so rigid and restricting that it can't be maintained with safety. If you stick to it you become so malnourished that it takes weeks of eating health-building-foods—and perhaps getting supplements from a prescription suggested by a doctor—to get your strength back.

Whatever your situation on calorie-watching and attempts to lose weight, you can take comfort in one fact. You aren't alone in your situation. Today, anyone who eats what he pleases, when he pleases, without a thought of the possibilities involved, is really hopelessly out of date. The whole nation is "diet conscious."

Three out of five Americans are overweight. We are known as the second fattest nation in the world. What does that mean? It means that our fat is a No. 1 national health problem.

Always remember that diet ties in directly with beauty. We cannot stress too strongly "We are what we eat." Think of your body as a house. Its foundation must be good health. You choose the materials that will maintain it and also increase its efficiency. The nutritious foods can make the body strong and vital and the wrong ones can break it down. And, when you break it your beauty crumbles with it!

So, before you return to your old eating routine, which will only continue to add pounds, first have a thorough check-up with your doctor. He can advise you the number of calories you require—which depends upon your body structure, sex, activity and many other things.

When you learn what calorie count per day is right for you—work conscientiously to trim your appetite to that number permanently—and your figure with it!

My FREE booklet, "Your Calorie Guide" is indispensable to any "calorie counter." Get your copy by sending a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Extra Poundage?

You have to admit — it took more than a week to acquire that extra weight!

Why then do you expect to correct the situation in a week or two? Yet, that is the attitude many women take—particularly those who follow "fad" diets. You know—the reducing stints in which you subsist only on hard boiled eggs and prunes, or juice diets, or lettuce leaves and lamb chops. The diet is usually so rigid and restricting that it can't be maintained with safety. If you stick to it you become so malnourished that it takes weeks of eating health-building-foods—and perhaps getting supplements from a prescription suggested by a doctor—to get your strength back.

Whatever your situation on calorie-watching and attempts to lose weight, you can take comfort in one fact. You aren't alone in your situation. Today, anyone who eats what he pleases, when he pleases, without a thought of the possibilities involved, is really hopelessly out of date. The whole nation is "diet conscious."

Three out of five Americans are overweight. We are known as the second fattest nation in the world. What does that mean? It means that our fat is a No. 1 national health problem.

Always remember that diet ties in directly with beauty. We cannot stress too strongly "We are what we eat." Think of your body as a house. Its foundation must be good health. You choose the materials that will maintain it and also increase its efficiency. The nutritious foods can make the body strong and vital and the wrong ones can break it down. And, when you break it your beauty crumbles with it!

So, before you return to your old eating routine, which will only continue to add pounds, first have a thorough check-up with your doctor. He can advise you the number of calories you require—which depends upon your body structure, sex, activity and many other things.

When you learn what calorie count per day is right for you—work conscientiously to trim your appetite to that number permanently—and your figure with it!

My FREE booklet, "Your Calorie Guide" is indispensable to any "calorie counter." Get your copy by sending a stamped, return envelope to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

WASHINGTON, D. C.

We Have Moved! — Come up and see us sometime! We are now in new quarters—nicer offices, more elbow room. The location is ideal; our suite of offices is in the part of the Senate Office Building nearest the Senate Wing of the Capitol. We chose not to move into the new building, farther away, and with certain other disadvantages. We like our building, gracious in architecture, with its classical rotunda, marble stairways and balustrades, and high ceilings. Our new suite is 321 Senate Office Building; telephone CApitol 4-3121, extension 5641.

Tobacco Price Support Limited —Maryland tobacco growers do not want a price support so high that it would price them out of the foreign market. They favor the kind of bill we got through the Senate, S. 1901, limiting rising support prices on tobacco, which, in addition to preventing the loss of export markets, will help prevent surpluses and further cuts in acreage allotments. This past week I visited the House of Representatives Wing of the Capitol and talked with many of my old friends, pointing out to them that tobacco growers do not want high price supports and therefore favor S. 1901. When the roll was called, our bill won.

Parkway In Prince Georges Again Blocked — The Senate voted down my amendment designed to permit continued progress on the George Washington Memorial Parkway. The House of Representatives, on the pretext of trying to balance the budget, had knocked out President Eisenhower's item of $1,000,000 to match an equal amount put up by Prince Georges County for this parkway. It was to meet this emergency that I devised an amendment which would not require any new appropriation, but which would transfer $500,000 from D. C.-land-acquisition funds (not needed immediately) to Prince Georges-land-acquisition funds. Though this effort failed, I will keep up my work for this much needed parkway. The Federal government must eventually make good on the authorization it made 30 years ago.

Two Maryland Youths Honored —The Secretary of Labor informs me that two young men of Maryland—Richard Bourne, of Hyattsville, and John C. Dillingham, of Bethesda—have been selected under the Student Assistant Program, designed to encourage students with outstanding capabilities in the fields of economics and statistics to become Federal government employees.

Education For Survival — Last week I put into the Congressional Record excerpts from the report of the Committee on Government and Higher Education, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University. The report points up dangers of Federal controls on education.

The President's Science Advisory Committee released its report also last week. It calls for more effective education, stating, among other things, that "the strength and happiness, even the survival of our democratic society will be determined primarily by the excellence and the appropriateness of our educational patterns."

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare announced the allocation of funds for graduate fellowships designed to increase the supply of college teachers and scholars and to expand graduate education in all fields. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland are listed as the nominating schools for four categories: Art, Philosophy, Political Economy, and Economics.

10 Emergency Hospitals Located In Maryland — The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization tells me that it has placed ten 200-bed Civil Defense Emergency Hospitals in the following locations in Maryland: Cambridge, Dorchester County; Frederick, Frederick County; LaPlata, Charles County; Hagerstown, Washington County; Hereford, Baltimore County; and Glenelg, Howard County. The hospitals are pre-positioned that they may be ready, if needed. Within a few hours the hospitals can be uncrated and set up by local authorities, ready to receive patients.

Revolutionary "Shield" Made In Maryland — The electronic shield to protect the Air Force's Valkyrie against enemy attack is to be built by the Air Arm Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Baltimore—a multi-million-dollar contract.

The Valkyrie, or B-70, cruises at speeds in excess of 2,000 miles per hour, faster than a rifle bullet, and can operate many hours without refueling. It will carry the largest nuclear weapons plus air-launched ballistic missiles, thus combining the flexibility of bombers with the quick reaction capability of missiles.

The defense system to protect the Valkyrie—the unit to be built in Baltimore—will make use of electromagnetic and other techniques to make it difficult if not impossible for enemy aircraft or missiles to successfully attack the big, fast bomber. The electronic shield provides the bomber crew with a bag of tricks, being kept secret, or "classified," as they say in Washington. This equipment is of highly advanced design, unlike any thing in use today. Its development

Small Number Students Able To Get Summer Jobs

Only a small percentage of the hundreds of high school and college students who applied for summer employment at the local office of the Employment Security Board were able to obtain work, according to Francis A. Kenney, manager.

Kenney said that some of the industrial plants in the area operate their own employment system and he does not know how many students they may have employed for the vacation period.

There is one field of employment which students can consider, Kenney said. This is the obtaining of employment in the students' neighborhoods mowing lawns, washing cars, polishing floors, cleaning attics and garages and cellars.

Kenney said there is little opportunity in summer jobs on farms as this is not an agriculture area such as the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland and Frederick and Washington counties.

The lack of an extensive tourist or resort business also curtails the number of job opportunities, Kenney pointed out. He suggests that the students outline to prospective employers what their skills are and how they can aid in increasing his sales or production.

Some college students who are taking courses in chemistry, electrical engineering, and similar technical fields have been employed by area industrial plants. Construction firms also hire extra workers during the construction season.

B&O Income Shows Rise During May

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad had a net income of approximately $3,283,000 for May, the largest for any month since October 1956, when the total was $3,581,000, according to figures announced Wednesday by Howard E. Simpson, president.

Last month's net income compared with $2,986,000 for April and $2,047,000 for May a year ago.

Operating revenues for May were approximately $38,100,000 and were 19 per cent above revenues of $32,014,000 for the similar 1958 month.

Operating expenses of $29,261,000 showed an increased of 17.7 per cent compared with May last year.

The May figures indicated that the B&O had a total net income of approximately $7,529,000 for the first five months of 1958, compared with $4,32,000 for the similar period of 1958 and $10,220,000 for the five months of 1957.

They also indicated gross operating revenues from January 1 to May 31 were about $167,146,000, as against $154,773,000 for the like period of 1958 and $196,127,000 in 1957.

Previously the company reported that much of its increase in May freight business was attributed to advance buying of steel and commodities related to that industry which faces the possibility of a strike.

W. Va. Youths Are Jailed For Speeding

Two Hampshire County youths were fined $50 each and ordered to spend the next several weekends in jail after pleading guilty to "hot rodding" charges Wednesday before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney.

Pleading guilty to reckless driving following their arrest after a chase in which the speed exceeded 90 miles an hour were Wilco Lee Hott, 17, of Shanks, and Wayne Allen Hott, 17, of Slanesville. The arrests were made by West Virginia State Trooper C. E. Dorsey.

Winchester Firm Low Bidder On Dam Projects

A Winchester, Va., company is the apparent low bidder on the construction of a flood retarding dam on Dry Run, Pendleton County.

This is the second of two dams scheduled to be started this summer in the flood control project covering the South Fork of the South Branch of the Potomac River.

In all, there will be 23 dams in Pendleton and Hardy counties in the program sponsored by the South Fork Soil Conservation District which has Pendleton and Hardy County Courts and the Town of Moorefield as the local sponsoring agents.

The low bidder on the Dry Run dam when bids were opened this week in Morgantown was Buckley-Lages, Inc., Winchester, with $127,518. The next two lowest were Bennie Snyder White Sulphur Springs, $131,420, and English Construction Company, Alta Vista, Va., $132,000.

The only South Branch contractor bidding was Elvin C. Riggleman of Moorefield who submitted a figure of $138,358.

The low bidder on the first dam, to be erected on Hawes Run in Pendleton County, was Lester B. Frank, Harrisonburg, Va., with $233,338.

The Dry Run dam includes clearing and rubbing 28 acres, common excavation of 6,150 cubic yards; compacted earth fill of 84,000 cubic yards, semi-compacted earth fill of 150,000 cubic yards, Class B concrete totaling 71.2 cubic yards; 368.8 feet of reinforced concrete pipe and 132 feet of six-inch corrugated pipe.

The Dry Run dam will be 64 feet high and will have a three-acre permanent pool of water. The Hawes run dam will be 67 feet high and have a permanent pool of eight acres.

The Hawes Run dam is on the South side of Route 33, two miles east of Brandywine, and the Dry Run dam, on the north side of the same highway.

The South Fork Watershed Project includes a total of 20 dams in Pendleton County and three in Hardy County.

The total construction cost has been estimated at $4,290,000 and it is expected to take ten years to complete.

It is the largest flood control project attempted by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in the eastern part of the United States.

H. D. McVey, Morgantown, state administrative officer for the Soil Conservation Service, said both contracts will be officially let before June 30 by the Washington SCS office.

Work must be started within ten days after the contractor receives the notice to proceed. The specifications call for the Hawes Run Dam to be completed within 373 calendar days and the Dry Run, within 220 days of receiving the notice.

Local Girl Burned By Lime At Field

A four-year-old local girl was badly burned by lime Wednesday while playing on Furnace Field in North End.

The child, Robin Muller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. Muller, 643 Sedgwick Street, was burned in the left eye and about the face while playing with a group of children at the field.

Robert Martin, LaVale pharmacist, administered first aid at a local drug store, and the child was taken to a local physician. Hospitalization was not required, however the physician said it would be a month before he could determine if the child's sight would be damaged.

It was reported the girl was burned by a small amount of lime which was in an old empty sack which had been discarded near the ball field.

Mineral County Farmers Use Conservation Plans

KEYSER—Mineral County farmers used Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing to establish conservation practices on 223 farms in 1958, according to John S. Arnold, chairman, Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

This was an increase of 32 farms from 1957. The farms participating in the ACP in 1958 contained 46 per cent of the farmland and 39 per cent of the cropland in the county.

ACP assistance for conservation cost-sharing last year totaled $35,053.00 in Mineral County. Federal cost-shares averaged 50 per cent of the cost of establishing the practices when all costs are considered. The balance was paid by participating farmers in money, materials, labor and equipment.

"This public investment of $35,853.00 resulted in 223 county farmers applying more than $71,000.00 worth of conservation on their land for conserving soil, water and forest resources as security for the future," Arnold said.

The ACP is administered by the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Besides Arnold, other farmer members on the county ASC committee are Eugene Z. Woodworth, R-1, Burlington, and J. F. Bowers, Sr., R-2, Keyser, and James Miller, county extension agent, Keyser.

The chief conservation accomplishments by farmers in this county under the 1958 ACP include 1,692 acres new or improved permanent grass or legume cover, 13 acres in tree planting, 21 conservation dams for storing water and controlling erosion, lime on meadows and pasture, 2,867 tons lime used and 44 acres drained with tile or open ditches.

"All farmers are eligible to use ACP cost-sharing on their farms. All requests for ACP cost-sharing receive equal consideration by ASC county committees on their merits for conservation," Arnold said. "The ACP offers farmers a choice. We want them to be able to get the kind of help they need when they need it, to best advance the conservation program they need on their individual farms."

DEATH IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

HAMLIN, W. Va. (UPI) — Cebert Cochran, 28, of Gill, Lincoln County, was killed Monday when the truck he was driving went out of control and turned over near Leet.

Bicycle Tags To Go On Sale In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Police Chief Donald Griffith announced today that bicycle tags will go on sale Monday and Tuesday at the police station from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 5 to 9 p. m. The late hours, he said, are for parents who may desire to accompany smaller children. Tags will also be available June 29 and 30 at the same hours.

Griffith asked that last year's registration card be brought by those reapplying for a license.

All bikes will be inspected for tires, brakes, lights, horns, rear reflectors and fenders. In addition, each applicant will be asked a number of questions concerning safety of operation.

The chief pointed out that bicycle laws must be observed by children as a matter of personal safety, not only to the bicyclist but pedestrians. He noted that by violating the law and riding on sidewalks personal injury to a pedestrian would be a simple matter. A few days ago, he said, a faculty member from Frostburg State Teachers College was knocked to the street and her clothes ruined when a child of about nine years old ran into her.

Mineral County Farmers Use Conservation Plans

KEYSER—Mineral County farmers used Agricultural Conservation Program cost-sharing to establish conservation practices on 223 farms in 1958, according to John S. Arnold, chairman, Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

This was an increase of 32 farms from 1957. The farms participating in the ACP in 1958 contained 46 per cent of the farmland and 39 per cent of the cropland in the county.

ACP assistance for conservation cost-sharing last year totaled $35,053.00 in Mineral County. Federal cost-shares averaged 50 per cent of the cost of establishing the practices when all costs are considered. The balance was paid by participating farmers in money, materials, labor and equipment.

"This public investment of $35,853.00 resulted in 223 county farmers applying more than $71,000.00 worth of conservation on their land for conserving soil, water and forest resources as security for the future," Arnold said.

The ACP is administered by the Mineral County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Besides Arnold, other farmer members on the county ASC committee are Eugene Z. Woodworth, R-1, Burlington, and J. F. Bowers, Sr., R-2, Keyser, and James Miller, county extension agent, Keyser.

The chief conservation accomplishments by farmers in this county under the 1958 ACP include 1,692 acres new or improved permanent grass or legume cover, 13 acres in tree planting, 21 conservation dams for storing water and controlling erosion, lime on meadows and pasture, 2,867 tons lime used and 44 acres drained with tile or open ditches.

"All farmers are eligible to use ACP cost-sharing on their farms. All requests for ACP cost-sharing receive equal consideration by ASC county committees on their merits for conservation," Arnold said. "The ACP offers farmers a choice. We want them to be able to get the kind of help they need when they need it, to best advance the conservation program they need on their individual farms."

Bicycle Tags To Go On Sale In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Police Chief Donald Griffith announced today that bicycle tags will go on sale Monday and Tuesday at the police station from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 5 to 9 p. m. The late hours, he said, are for parents who may desire to accompany smaller children. Tags will also be available June 29 and 30 at the same hours.

Griffith asked that last year's registration card be brought by those reapplying for a license.

All bikes will be inspected for tires, brakes, lights, horns, rear reflectors and fenders. In addition, each applicant will be asked a number of questions concerning safety of operation.

The chief pointed out that bicycle laws must be observed by children as a matter of personal safety, not only to the bicyclist but pedestrians. He noted that by violating the law and riding on sidewalks personal injury to a pedestrian would be a simple matter. A few days ago, he said, a faculty member from Frostburg State Teachers College was knocked to the street and her clothes ruined when a child of about nine years old ran into her.

W.Va. Deed Stamp Act Is Puzzler

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—An opinion from the attorney general's office has cleared up the muddle surrounding a 1959 legislative act that left bankers, lawyers, state tax officials and even the lawmakers themselves confused.

An opinion by Asst. Atty. Gen. Virginia Mae Brown said that the law, passed in February, requires that all deeds, with the exception of deeds of trust and mortgages, bear State revenue stamps of $1.10 per each evaluation or fraction thereof. The law applies to deeds recorded after July 1. Failure to comply means that clerks of the county court can't record the deed.

It was the section pertaining to the deeds of trust and mortgages which caused the confusion—especially to a special committee of the Jefferson County Bar Assn.

A committee spokesman said one version includes deeds of trust in the new act. Another, or the original legislation as introduced in the State Senate, exempts deeds of trust.

Somehow in the confusion of getting the bill passed, the House of Delegates changed the wording in the exemption clause and the Senate didn't catch the revision in concurring in other amendments.

Mrs. Brown said the amendment clarifying the wording of the bill was inserted in the wrong place—at the printers—thus causing all of the confusion.

Opening lead: Five of ♦.

Fear of an impending ruff panicked most declarers into giving up the only legitimate play for the contract today in a hand taken from a recent tournament.

North's response of two diamonds was accepted procedure in the previous decade, but few topflight players would look on it with favor today. The one no trump response is the orthodox call and the two-over-one is reserved for hands that are not far short of an opening bid. The same contract would be reached for South would make a jump rebid in any case. But after North bid two diamonds and raised the hearts, another questionable action, South showed extraordinary restraint not to become curious as to a slam.

The singleton diamond was invariably opened and declarer had no difficulty in diagnosing the lead as a singleton. The panic induced several declarers to run up with the ace and with that gesture they sealed their own doom, for their was no way to avoid the loss of two diamonds and two hearts.

One declarer remained placid in the face of the imminent ruff. He realized that going up with the ace would not solve his problem, for he could not reach dummy to obtain a discard on the king of spades and it would then become mandatory to hold the heart losses to one trick. He therefore ducked, convinced that if East won, and returned a diamond for partner to ruff, nothing would be lost for West would be ruffing away a loser.

When East won with the queen, he was powerless to launch an effective attack. If he returned an off suit, South would cash the ace of trumps and the ace and queen of spades, then get out with a heart. There was one more heart trick due to the defense, but the small diamond would be disposed of on the king of spades after West's king of trumps was gotten out of the way.

A LIFT FROM THE DEPTHS OF DEPRESSION — Rescuing hands hold the arms of Agustin Le Pree, 41, as a rope sling is tightened to lower him from a 220-foot water tower in Passaic, N.J. Le Pree had perched atop the tower for almost three hours with threats to jump. Out of work and separated from his wife, he reportedly had been drinking heavily. Firemen lowered him (bottom), and police jailed him as disorderly.

Soroptimists To Meet During July, August

Besides a school of instruction, the Soroptimist Club of Cumberland will hold meetings during July and August, instead of recessing, Mrs. Fay Stillwagon has announced.

The school of instruction, for officers and chairmen, will be held at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Green, 814 North Centre Street. Club activities will be planned and projects will be selected at the summer meetings, with work beginning in September.

Main fields of Soroptimist projects are education, health, civic, youth and social adjustment. Additional information may be obtained by writing P.O. Box 1195.

Good Tip

A rubber coaster placed under each crib leg will keep baby from shaking the crib around the room.

Soil Conservation Stamp To Be Issued In August

A four-cent postage stamp saluting progress in soil conservation in the United States will be issued this summer.

Martin Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service here, said yesterday the stamp will be issued August 26.

He said the nation's first soil conservation stamp will be formally released at the annual meeting of the SCS of America at Rapid City, S. D., and will go on sale the following day at post offices throughout the country.

The stamp, which was developed in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, portrays a modern farmland setting signifying that conservation farming brings beauty as well as bounty to rural living.

Soil conservation practices portrayed include contour strip cropping, terracing, pasture improvement, tree planting, and a farm pond.

In addition the silhouette of a city in the background symbolizes that urban as well as rural people are highly dependent upon the care and wise use of land as a principal source of food, water, shelter and clothing.

A total of 120 million stamps has been ordered. The artist is Walter Hortens of New York, a native of Vienna. The stamp is printed in three colors, yellow, green and blue.

Anchor It

Always include a box of thumb tacks in the picnic basket. They will hold the tablecloth and paper plates down if the day turns out to be a windy one.

A steel pipeline, 14 feet in diameter and 3½ miles long, carries water from a dam to a hydroelectric plant in northeastern Pennsylvania.

HOLLYWOOD — Called Cubby Broccoli on the coast to check that he's marrying Dana Wilson, beautiful novelist I met with him at the David May party, and he said, "it's true. I asked her last night and I'm a lucky man, she said 'yes.'" It's all so sudden they haven't yet decided whether the marriage will take place before or after Cubby leaves for Yugoslavia in September to produce "The Long Ships." But they are favoring an European wedding.

Cubby and Dana met eight weeks ago in New York where she was conferring with her publishers about her new book, "Dutch Treat." She has been married previously and has a 17-year-old son.

As for Cubby—I'm so glad he has found new happiness. He was a devoted husband to his late wife, Nedra Clarke Broccoli, during the long, long illness that claimed her life last year.

Went backstage at "Redhead" to see Gwen Verdon and found her in a highly nervous state—understandably. She said that just 10 minutes before she went on stage her son had telephoned to say robbers had broken into their apartment, stolen her furs, some of her jewelry and had used a meat cleaver to break into the liquor cabinet.

Trying to calm down, she told me, "that same little boy who used to call you lollipops is now six feet one."

Gwen was referring to those many years ago when she lived in Hollywood and used to drop by our staff luncheons at the Derby carrying that little boy in her arms. This courageous girl has come a long way and her dancing is the best of this generation of women stars.

Gwen is great in "Redhead" of which so many favorable things have been written that I'll just add I found the book and lyrics by Dorothy Fields most entertaining.

"John Paul Jones" should be a must for every student of American history. It's one of the first motion pictures dealing with the Revolutionary War and introduces all our heroes of that period. It makes those perilous days come alive.

The sea scenes are unbelievably majestic and the color beautiful. John Farrow directed the picture after years of research and shows his love of the sea. In private life he is Commander John Farrow.

Samuel Bronston, executive producer, showed his faith in the project by raising the money. Robert Stack comes of age in "John Paul Jones" and dominates the whole picture, with Marisa Pavan next best. Charles Coburn gives the role of Benjamin Franklin a touch of humor.

After all the gangster films and pictures of so-called decadence, to me "John Paul Jones" is refreshing and thrilling.

The Paul Newman-Joanne Woodward debutante was christened Elinor Teresa in the Episcopalian church a few days ago, Paul gifting Joanne with a diamond heart.

These two former "confirmed" New Yorkers tell me they are looking forward to the day when they can return with their daughter to California. It won't be anytime soon, however, as Paul's contract for "Sweet Bird of Youth" runs until January. Joanne is just starting her movie, "The Fugitive Kind," with Marlon Brando here. But she says there's a chance 20th will call her back to the coast this fall for another picture.

Bob Considine wanted to cover both the National Open golf tournament and the Belmont Stakes race last Saturday. How to get to both he didn't know. The distance was too great by car.

"Why don't you take a helicopter," advised William Randolph Hearst III.

That gave Bob an idea and he did just that.

"Young Will is the third William Randolph Hearst I've taken assignments from," said Bob. "First his grandfather, William Randolph Heart Sr., then his father, William Randolph Heart Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst papers, and now young Willie, Bootsie and Bill's bright young son."

Governors Lost Among Tourists

Nine members of the U. S. Governors' Conference, led by Chairman LeRoy Collins of Florida, leave next Tuesday for a three-week tour of the Soviet Union.

The group has a wide geographical spread, includes one governor who has been prominently mentioned for the Presidency (Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey) and—apologies to Congressional junketeers—is probably the ranking U. S. delegation to visit the Soviet Union since the end of World War II. Yet the tour seems to be getting relatively little advance notice. Why?

For one thing, there's the scheduled visit of Vice President Nixon in July. Despite their grassroots connections, none of the governors has the stature, either official or political, to speak for the United States. For another thing, the tempo of exchange between the U. S. and the U.S.S.R. has so speeded up in the past several years that only a unique personality or a rare incident can capture public fancy.

How different it was when the post-war visits began in 1953. Tours of seven small-town editors and three college newsmen were front page news. Perle Mesta, ex-ambassador to Luxembourg, and Marshall MacDuffie, former head of the U. N. Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in Moscow, were the only important figures to make the trip.

Since 1956, there have been so many junketeers—doctors, farmers, iron-steel experts, lawyers, churchmen—that only a few stand out from the crowd. Still, the impressions of such noted tourists as Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Averell Harriman have been attentively received, and it's been said that no Presidential boom is complete without an invitation to the Kremlin. Nixon, of course, is next, accompanied by the President's brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the hottest of the Democratic hopefuls, has said he hopes to go this summer.

A Page Of History

History is often made by what is not done. The entire course of a nation can be changed by acts of omission, by failure to function, by the avoidance of a specific step.

On December 10, 1941, General Douglas MacArthur addressed a message from Manila to General George C. Marshall who was then the boss of the Army in Washington. This message was sent three days after Pearl Harbor. It was sent by secret radio and was marked "Extra Priority." General Marshall sent it to "War Projects." "War Projects" favored MacArthur's idea. The message was pigeonholed and is not cited in the literature concerning this period. Until September 27, 1958, it was a secret, hidden document. But now it is history and must change the perspective on the war and its results. So here is the document:

"Radiogram

The mass of enemy air and naval strength committed in the theatre from Singapore to the Philippines and eastward established his weakness in Japan proper and definite information available here shows that entry of Russia is enemy greatest fear Stop Most favorable opportunity now exists and immediate attack on Japan from north would not only inflict heavy punishment but would at once relieve pressure from objectives of Jap drive to southward Stop Information being secured by Knight who is known to Miles establishes that heavy air attack on Jap objectives would not only pull in much of present widely dispersed air strength but would destroy much of their exposed oil supply Stop Golden opportunity exists for a master stroke while the enemy is engaged in overextended initial air efforts

MacARTHUR"

Certain facts need to be recalled in connection with this document. Soviet Russia did not enter the Far Eastern War until within a week before its termination.

Had General MacArthur's proposal, three days after Pearl Harbor, been given consideration, the Japanese could not have continued their long course of victories which included the Philippines, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and the approaches to Australia. Had Soviet Russia entered the Far Eastern War in 1941, Chiang Kai-shek's forces would not have become exhausted and the Chinese Communists would not have taken control of China.

This is all speculative but those who pigeonholed General MacArthur's message speculated on the possibility of winning a war without the aid of Russia, actually with Russia neutral and, in effect, giving aid to our enemy in the Far East while allied to us in the German side of the war, and conducting an agitation within the United States for a "second front"—a campaign which diverted the United States from its principal target which was then Japan.

There is a note on this message, written in longhand. It is initialled L.S.K. — which stands for Major L. S. Kuter, then Assistant Secretary of the General Staff. The note reads:

"Gen. Marshall is taking this up with HW. WPD recommended that every effort be made to bring Russia into war."

Little by little the documents of history come out of hidden files to add another page to the long story of human stupidity and ineptitude, of frailness and jealousy, of projects that cannot be carried through. Each of these small episodes costs thousands of lives and millions in wealth. Thus do empires rise and fall, the weak grow strong and the strong become weak. It is the story of mankind.

Small men in high positions can destroy what they seek to protect. This is the danger that all nations face. Kingdoms have been built by strong men only to be dissipated by their stupid grandsons. Republics are only strong as long as the people can check their officials; when an elite class develops which functions in secrecy, a republic dies.

The Downward Slope: New Ideas Needed

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

This is a bad moment to try to sum up the impressions of a European trip mainly devoted to the Geneva conference; for the outcome at Geneva hangs in the balance as these words are written. It may be modest and unexciting, or it may be very terrible indeed.

This reporter still clings to the hope that something modest will be done, in the way of clearing the road to the summit without any sacrifice of the essential Western position at Berlin. But this is the best result that can reasonably be expected. And precisely there, in turn, is the best measure of the decline in the American and Western position in the last six years.

In order to see the extent of the decline, you only have to compare the previous Soviet attempt to secure a summit meeting with the present one. Last time, it is now pretty clear, the Kremlin high command took the road to the summit after the fall of Beria, after the displacement of Georgi Malenkov, and after the emergence of Khrushchev and Bulganin as the Soviet Union's ruling partnership.

The real first step on the road, taken by Khrushchev over bitter opposition from Molotov and others, was the "normalization" of relations between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia. That, in itself, was enough to stimulate pressures for a meeting at the summit in Britain and France. But it was by no means enough to overcome the determined opposition of John Foster Dulles. In his grim way, Dulles stonewalled the project, resisting all the wishful outcry at home and abroad, until Khrushchev had taken a vital further step.

Quite suddenly, after years of fruitless negotiation, Khrushchev granted a state treaty to Austria. After the long delayed liberation of Austria had been promised by the Kremlin, Dulles could no longer resist the drive to the summit. The arguments that the masters of the Kremlin really might be seeking some sort of general accommodation then became too strong, converting even President Eisenhower.

As it turned out, Dulles's fears were well justified. The main consequence of that first phoney rally on the heights in the spring of 1955 was the sudden Soviet intrusion into the troubled affairs of the Middle East. The fact will be worth remembering, if we have another summit. But above all, at this moment, it is worth remembering that Khrushchev felt that it was necessary and worthwhile to pay a solid price to get to the summit in 1955. The price was Austria.

The contrast between 1955 and 1959 could hardly be more sharp. This time no price whatever has been paid to clear the summit road. Instead, Khrushchev has brandished his H-bombs and ballistic missiles. He has denounced the status quo at Berlin, guaranteed by the Soviets only ten years ago, as "intolerable" and a "danger to peace." He has threatened to take action to which the West can only respond by open surrender or direct use of military force.

Such were the tactics that produced the Geneva conference, if we are honest wtih ourselves. The President may say that he is not going to the summit "under threat of force"; but he only means that he is not going to negotiate under the shadow of a naked Soviet ultimatum, with a time limit attached. If he goes to the summit in the end, he will make the journey, in the last analysis, because Khrushchev's threats of force created a new climate in which this journey was unavoidable.

There is the simplest, plainest proof that this country and the Western alliance have been on a downward slope for the last six years, and especially since 1955. The main reason for the decline of Western position is obvious enough. The President has persistently refused to make the necessary efforts to maintain the world balance of military power. So the power balance has tilted sharply in the Kremlin's favor.

But this reporter has returned from Europe with a strong conviction that there is still another, even more basic reason for the decline of the Western position. At Geneva, particularly, it was like listening to a much-worn old gramophone record. New themes, new departures, new ideas, were conspicuous by their absence. They are now desperately needed. They must come from this country, because no other Western ally has the power or resources to sustain a major new departure or carry out a major new idea.

In politics and economics, strategy and foreign relations, the United States government has not produced a single major new idea since the end of the first Truman administration in 1948. Meanwhile the old methods, the old ideas have increasingly lost their former value. If the next American administration does not achieve a great jet of new ideas, the downward slope will continue indefinitely, perhaps into the abyss.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

A magazine reported that two of the Democratic House leaders didn't like each other and thereby set off one of the most rollicking speeches heard there in many a year.

The holders of mutual disaffection were supposed to be House Speaker Sam Rayburn, of Texas, and Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, long-time chairman of the powerful appropriations committee.

Cannon decided to tell the House what he thought of Rayburn. "Just because nobody else likes Sam Rayburn is no reason why I should not," he said. "I am by nature instinctively for the underdog. So of course, I am for Sam."

When Rayburn interrupted to tell Cannon that he liked him also, Cannon remarked, "He said he is for me and would be for me even if I went to the penitentiary, and he added that was not unlikely."

Cannon concluded by saying that he is preparing a biography of Rayburn for publication when he retires or takes a wife. He added he hoped that "neither disaster" would occur.

Danger Signals Warn Of Tubal Pregnancies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The fertilized ovum develops normally in the uterus. Now and then, it attaches itself and begins to grow somewhere in the abdomen outside the womb (ectopic pregnancy). This is not normal and the pregnancy usually is doomed to failure.

In most instances, the ovum becomes embedded in one of the fallopian tubes. The lining membrane of these passageways attempts to undergo changes like those that occur with pregnancy in the uterus. But the wall of the fallopian tube is thin and its tissues are not suited to the needs of a developing baby. Furthermore, the interior diameter of the tube is less than a quarter inch wide. It cannot be stretched too much by the growing fetus before it bleeds or ruptures.

The first few weeks of an ectopic pregnancy are no different from an ordinary pregnancy. There is the usual missed period and everything goes along routinely for an additional four to six weeks when spotting or slight bleeding begins.

Cramping pains may be noted on one side or the other which may be so mild as to be considered insignificant. Bleeding may make the woman suspect a miscarriage but tubal pregnancy is a more likely cause when it is combined with one sided abdominal pain.

When distress is continuous or colicky, internal bleeding may be taking place. On the other hand, when pain is sudden and severe, there is a good possibility that extensive bleeding has occurred or the growing ovum has ruptured into the abdominal cavity.

These are danger signals, especially when accompanied by weakness or faintness. The physician should be called promptly because immediate surgery may be needed to prevent or stop hemorrhage. The outcome usually is excellent when the condition is recognized and treated promptly. Many of these women subsequently have normal pregnancies. The chance of having a second ectopic pregnancy varies from 3 to 4 per cent.

Now and then a fertilized ovum attaches itself to the intestine and there are medical reports in which the baby survives and is delivered alive through an abdominal incision. On rare occasions, multiple fertilization has occurred, with one fetus in a tube and another in the uterus.

HET UP

H. J. writes: I'm very fond of a certain individual but when I'm with him I get so tense I develop nausea. Are the nerves connected with the stomach?

REPLY

And how! The same nerves that make lovers lose appetite give young men ulcers. Banthine and allied ulcer remedies divorce the brain from the stomach and might be useful in your case to encourage a more comfortable courtship.

RECTAL DISORDERS

R. A. writes: Please describe fissure and fistula of the rectum.

REPLY

A rectal fissure is a small furrow or crack in the rectal wall. A fistula is an abnormal passageway leading from an abscess in the rectum to an outside opening. We have leaflets on both these conditions that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

HARDENED NAIL

J. D. writes: What could make the nail of one of the big toes turn to stone?

REPLY

Age and poor circulation are the most common causes. Many elderly persons have thickened toe nails. In some instances they grow and look like horns.

BOWEL SPASM

W. G. writes: My doctor tells me I have a lot of spasm down my intestinal tract. He gave me medicine but did not explain. Can you tell me what this condition is?

REPLY

The circular muscles that surround the intestine normally are in a constant state of contraction and relaxation. In this way, food is propelled toward the rectum. These muscles are under control of the automatic nervous system. In high-strung persons, they may overcontract and cause painful spasms. Anti-spasmodic products help temporarily but more permanent relief comes from developing equanimity.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A customer walked into a Fifth Avenue shoe store, reports Charles McHarry, wearing a cowboy hat, flowing bow tie, vividly dotted shirt, choke-bore pants, and a pair of beautiful hand-tooled boots. "Got to get me some real shoes," he told the clerk.

"These boots pinching you?" asked the clerk.

"Heck, no!" boomed the customer, "but Cindy Lou and ah aims to visit Europe and I don't want the bloodsuckin' cayutes to know ahm from Texas."

"How's business?" inquired a customer of two partners in a dress manufacturing house. "Well," one partner answered cautiously, 'we're having our ups and downs."

When the customer had left the other partner, silent until now, exploded, "I ought to punch you right in the nose! Holding out on me, hey? Since when have we had any ups?'

Sen. Scott's Anti-Semitism Charge Recalls His Attack On Scientist

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia made the formal charge on the Senate floor recently that anti-Semitism was behind the confirmation fight against Adm. Lewis L. Strauss. He claimed this was a modern Dreyfus case.

Dreyfus was the French army officer court-martialed and convicted because he was a Jew, and to compare this with the Strauss confirmation battle is one of the most serious charges Scott could have made on the Senate floor. If true, it impugns every Senator who has opposed Admiral Strauss and every newspaperman who has reported the Admiral's operations. It is especially serious because Senator Scott was formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee and campaign manager for Gov. Tom Dewey.

Senator Scott lives in a Philadelphia suburban district which is largely Jewish, and during the early part of the Strauss hearings he received mail from Jewish voters highly critical of the persecution tactics he used against Dr. David Inglis, an atomic scientist who had the courage to testify against Strauss.

Scott had branded Inglis as guilty of "McCarthyism," then proceeded to use "McCarthyism" against Inglis. He sent surreptitiously for the Un-American Activities Committee file on Inglis through his GOP colleague, Congressman Gordon Scherer of Ohio, then cross-examined the scientist as to whether he had ever defended Alger Hiss and whether he was ever a member of the Citizens Independent Committee of Arts and Sciences.

Senator Scott seemed quite upset when it leaked out that he had dipped into the files of the Un-American Activities Committee, and reaction in his home town of Philadelphia was not good. This may be why he is swinging in the other direction and calling the debate on Admiral Strauss another Dreyfus case. The charge goes to the root of American fair play and deserves careful examination.

Strauss And Persecution

Senator Scott's charge is that Strauss is being persecuted. Other Senators charge that Strauss himself is guilty of persecution, therefore should not be in a position of important government power.

In this connection they have not dealt on Strauss's loyalty trial of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, in which the scientist who built the first atom bomb was scrutinized and dissected and made to suffer public humiliation such as few public men have experienced in this century.

Instead, the Senators critical of Strauss have cited less-known cases of Strauss' persecution. One was that of Carroll Wilson, former manager of the Atomic Energy Commission: the other of Malcolm C. Henderson another ex-employe of the AEC. Both had their Q-clearance removed by Strauss after they opposed his policies and after they went to work for private firms.

When the admiral was questioned about this by the Senate Commerce Committee he was evasive. He said this was only hearsay and the Senate should get its information direct from the two men. Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming did.

Wilson wrote back: "Mr. Strauss deeply resented my insistence while I was general manager of the commission in carrying out the will of the majority of the commission and my unwillingness to modify or change by executive action the policies adopted by the majority of the commission."

Wilson then told in detail how, after he went to work for Climax Molybdenum, FBI agents had been sent to investigate him. Subsequently his Q-clearance was removed. After considerable effort, it was finally restored.

"It is entirely clear to me," wrote Wilson, "that the initiative and responsibility for both actions came from Mr. Strauss, whose vindictiveness I had seen demonstrated before."

Another Case Of Persecution

Mr. Henderson, the other victim of Strauss's persecution, told how he was about to get a job with the National Security Council when Admiral Strauss intervened.

"Next morning on reporting for work I was told that someone else had the position," Henderson stated. "If you want witnesses to this I can give you their names. This was in the fall of 1953.

"In October I went to work for the FCDA as Director of Test Operations. For this post my Q-clearance was essential. In March 1954, I was informed by form letter that the Q-clearance was withdrawn.

"I learned that the FCDA was not going to apply to have it restored because word had been received that application would not be favorably received by the commission. The head of the FCDA being no match politically for the chairman of the AEC (Strauss), this put me very neatly out of the government's employ.

"The implication in the quotation furnished me was that Mr. Strauss had me fired because I had disagreed with him on a policy matter."

Henderson went on to explain that he had disagreed with Strauss on a matter which was within "my own area of competence," but "that Strauss came around shortly afterward to advocating and then carrying out exactly the same course of action."

This is part of the record of the man who some Senators claim is the object of a Dreyfus-type persecution. They want him confirmed for a position of even greater power over other men's lives.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—A roving reporter never knows a town well. The moment he finishes his story, he stumbles to a cab laden with luggage. He is on his way home, he thinks. He doesn't even know that place well, because he is never in it long enough to know the people.

I like this town. I've been here over a week and, when I wasn't at the rape trial, I ran my rented sedan all over the countryside. Tallahassee is quiet. It's tucked away in the garter of Florida, and it runs a couple of dozen streets in one direction, and a dozen in the other.

It has palm trees and nice shops and a lot of sweet talk. The silver dome of the state capitol is here. So are some state bureaus and the Supreme Court. There are law offices over banks and stores and the Seaboard Airline Railroad runs a one-track system from here to Jacksonville, 169 miles east.

The harmonica horns on the locomotives cause a lot of old men to pull out their gold turnips and gravely consult the time. There are 47,000 people in Tallahassee, two indoor movies and a couple of drive-in movies, including one for Negroes only.

There are neat little parks, with shady old oaks, and little benches with advertisements on their backs. Some of the finest families are interrelated in several directions, so that, at a Sunday lawn party, an awful lot of guests are really kissing cousins.

There is one band on television—channel 6. This is supplemented by a few radio stations, and one newspaper, The Tallahassee Democrat. When the big reporters and newsreel men arrived from New York for the rape trial, they found that the Democrat was playing the story in the second section.

To eat properly, one must be invited to a home. Nothing, as my stomach can testify, is as bad as restaurant southern cooking. The chefs fry everything. No one ever showed them that the stove has an inside compartment. The chicken comes up like a breaded inner tube.

The grits aren't bad. I like them. A pat of butter and a little salt make grits palatable. It looks like farina, but one must never use sugar and milk on good grits. The black-eyed peas remind me of bean soup cooked with a strip of bacon.

Mrs. Barbara Frye, of the local UPI office, took me to a couple of places where the steaks were good. So did the William Hopkins. But, unless you know a good restaurant, southern cooking will do worse than kill you. It leaves you maimed.

The people here are gentle and proud. They have manners and breeding, and a crime like the recent rape case leaves them sick at heart. I have never seen so many responsible citizens beg off serving on a jury as in this case. When it was over, these men knew that they would have to begin living with each other again.

Sheriff Bill Joyce is one who never forgets that he has to live with everybody around here. He had charge of press relations in the old courthouse and, the way he had it planned, all of the local radio stations and the local newspaper would sit in front, and the boys from New York could find a seat, if there was a seat.

One newsman said that a Negro reporter was coming from New York. The sheriff thought this over for a moment. "All colored people sit up in the balcony," he said. "That's the rule here."

Did that mean the reporter too? The sheriff nodded. "If he's colored, he sits with the colored people." It began to look as though, in the battle for seats, that this particular reporter might be the only one who would have a seat. Further, as the balcony looks down on the proceedings in the court with a much better view than the ground-floor seats — huddled behind a railing and counsel tables — the balcony became desirable.

So the white reporter thought he would outsmart the sheriff. "Fine," he said. "Tell you what, sheriff. All the reporters will go into the balcony with the New York man."

The sheriff shook his head. "Nothing doing," he said. "We ain't gonna have no integratin' in that balcony.". . .

Small men in high positions can destroy what they seek to protect. This is the danger that all nations face. Kingdoms have been built by strong men only to be dissipated by their stupid grandsons. Republics are only strong as long as the people can check their officials; when an elite class develops which functions in secrecy, a republic dies.

Sen. Scott's Anti-Semitism Charge Recalls His Attack On Scientist

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia made the formal charge on the Senate floor recently that anti-Semitism was behind the confirmation fight against Adm. Lewis L. Strauss. He claimed this was a modern Dreyfus case.

Dreyfus was the French army officer court-martialed and convicted because he was a Jew, and to compare this with the Strauss confirmation battle is one of the most serious charges Scott could have made on the Senate floor. If true, it impugns every Senator who has opposed Admiral Strauss and every newspaperman who has reported the Admiral's operations. It is especially serious because Senator Scott was formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee and campaign manager for Gov. Tom Dewey.

Senator Scott lives in a Philadelphia suburban district which is largely Jewish, and during the early part of the Strauss hearings he received mail from Jewish voters highly critical of the persecution tactics he used against Dr. David Inglis, an atomic scientist who had the courage to testify against Strauss.

Scott had branded Inglis as guilty of "McCarthyism," then proceeded to use "McCarthyism" against Inglis. He sent surreptitiously for the Un-American Activities Committee file on Inglis through his GOP colleague, Congressman Gordon Scherer of Ohio, then cross-examined the scientist as to whether he had ever defended Alger Hiss and whether he was ever a member of the Citizens Independent Committee of Arts and Sciences.

Senator Scott seemed quite upset when it leaked out that he had dipped into the files of the Un-American Activities Committee, and reaction in his home town of Philadelphia was not good. This may be why he is swinging in the other direction and calling the debate on Admiral Strauss another Dreyfus case. The charge goes to the root of American fair play and deserves careful examination.

Strauss And Persecution

Senator Scott's charge is that Strauss is being persecuted. Other Senators charge that Strauss himself is guilty of persecution, therefore should not be in a position of important government power.

In this connection they have not dealt on Strauss's loyalty trial of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, in which the scientist who built the first atom bomb was scrutinized and dissected and made to suffer public humiliation such as few public men have experienced in this century.

Instead, the Senators critical of Strauss have cited less-known cases of Strauss' persecution. One was that of Carroll Wilson, former manager of the Atomic Energy Commission; the other of Malcolm C. Henderson another ex-employe of the AEC. Both had their Q-clearance removed by Strauss after they opposed his policies and after they went to work for private firms.

When the admiral was questioned about this by the Senate Commerce Committee he was evasive. He said this was only hearsay and the Senate should get its information direct from the two men. Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming did.

Wilson wrote back: "Mr. Strauss deeply resented my insistence while I was general manager of the commission in carrying out the will of the majority of the commission and my unwillingness to modify or change by executive action the policies adopted by the majority of the commission."

Wilson then told in detail how, after he went to work for Climax Molybdenum, FBI agents had been sent to investigate him. Subsequently his Q-clearance was removed. After considerable effort, it was finally restored.

"It is entirely clear to me," wrote Wilson, "that the initiative and responsibility for both actions came from Mr. Strauss, whose vindictiveness I had seen demonstrated before."

Another Case Of Persecution

Mr. Henderson, the other victim of Strauss's persecution, told how he was about to get a job with the National Security Council when Admiral Strauss intervened.

"Next morning on reporting for work I was told that someone else had the position," Henderson stated. "If you want witnesses to this I can give you their names. This was in the fall of 1953.

"In October I went to work for the FCDA as Director of Test Operations. For this post my Q-clearance was essential. In March 1954, I was informed by form letter that the Q-clearance was withdrawn.

"I learned that the FCDA was not going to apply to have it restored because word had been received that application would not be favorably received by the commission. The head of the FCDA being no match politically for the chairman of the AEC (Strauss), this put me very neatly out of the government's employ.

"The implication in the quotation furnished me was that Mr. Strauss had me fired because I had disagreed with him on a policy matter."

Henderson went on to explain that he had disagreed with Strauss on a matter which was within "my own area of competence," but "that Strauss came around shortly afterward to advocating and then carrying out exactly the same course of action."

This is part of the record of the man who some Senators claim is the object of a Dreyfus-type persecution. They want him confirmed for a position of even greater power over other men's lives.

The Downward Slope: New Ideas Needed

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

This is a bad moment to try to sum up the impressions of a European trip mainly devoted to the Geneva conference; for the outcome at Geneva hangs in the balance as these words are written. It may be modest and unexciting, or it may be very terrible indeed.

This reporter still clings to the hope that something modest will be done, in the way of clearing the road to the summit without any sacrifice of the essential Western position at Berlin. But this is the best result that can reasonably be expected. And precisely there, in turn, is the best measure of the decline in the American and Western position in the last six years.

In order to see the extent of the decline, you only have to compare the previous Soviet attempt to secure a summit meeting with the present one. Last time, it is now pretty clear, the Kremlin high command took the road to the summit after the fall of Beria, after the displacement of Georgi Malenkov, and after the emergence of Khrushchev and Bulganin as the Soviet Union's ruling partnership.

The real first step on the road, taken by Khrushchev over bitter opposition from Molotov and others, was the "normalization" of relations between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia. That, in itself, was enough to stimulate pressures for a meeting at the summit in Britain and France. But it was by no means enough to overcome the determined opposition of John Foster Dulles. In his grim way, Dulles stonewalled the project, resisting all the wishful outcry at home and abroad, until Khrushchev had taken a vital further step.

Quite suddenly, after years of fruitless negotiation, Khrushchev granted a state treaty to Austria. After the long delayed liberation of Austria had been promised by the Kremlin, Dulles could no longer resist the drive to the summit. The arguments that the masters of the Kremlin really might be seeking some sort of general accommodation then became too strong, converting even President Eisenhower.

As it turned out, Dulles's fears were well justified. The main consequence of that first phoney rally on the heights in the spring of 1955 was the sudden Soviet intrusion into the troubled affairs of the Middle East. The fact will be worth remembering, if we have another summit. But above all, at this moment, it is worth remembering that Khrushchev felt that it was necessary and worthwhile to pay a solid price to get to the summit in 1955. The price was Austria.

The contrast between 1955 and 1959 could hardly be more sharp. This time no price whatever has been paid to clear the summit road. Instead, Khrushchev has brandished his H-bombs and ballistic missiles. He has denounced the status quo at Berlin, guaranteed by the Soviets only ten years ago, as "intolerable" and a "danger to peace." He has threatened to take action to which the West can only respond by open surrender or direct use of military force.

Such were the tactics that produced the Geneva conference, if we are honest wtih ourselves. The President may say that he is not going to the summit "under threat of force"; but he only means that he is not going to negotiate under the shadow of a naked Soviet ultimatum, with a time limit attached. If he goes to the summit in the end, he will make the journey, in the last analysis, because Khrushchev's threats of force created a new climate in which this journey was unavoidable.

There is the simplest, plainest proof that this country and the Western alliance have been on a downward slope for the last six years, and especially since 1955. The main reason for the decline of Western position is obvious enough. The President has persistently refused to make the necessary efforts to maintain the world balance of military power. So the power balance has tilted sharply in the Kremlin's favor.

But this reporter has returned from Europe with a strong conviction that there is still another, even more basic reason for the decline of the Western position. At Geneva, particularly, it was like listening to a much-worn old gramophone record. New themes, new departures, new ideas, were conspicuous by their absence. They are now desperately needed. They must come from this country, because no other Western ally has the power or resources to sustain a major new departure or carry out a major new idea.

In politics and economics, strategy and foreign relations, the United States government has not produced a single major new idea since the end of the first Truman administration in 1948. Meanwhile the old methods, the old ideas have increasingly lost their former value. If the next American administration does not achieve a great jet of new ideas, the downward slope will continue indefinitely, perhaps into the abyss.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

A magazine reported that two of the Democratic House leaders didn't like each other and thereby set off one of the most rollicking speeches heard there in many a year.

The holders of mutual disaffection were supposed to be House Speaker Sam Rayburn, of Texas, and Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, long-time chairman of the powerful appropriations committee.

Cannon decided to tell the House what he thought of Rayburn. "Just because nobody else likes Sam Rayburn is no reason why I should not," he said. "I am by nature instinctively for the underdog. So of course, I am for Sam."

When Rayburn interrupted to tell Cannon that he liked him also, Cannon remarked, "He said he is for me and would be for me even if I went to the penitentiary, and he added that was not unlikely."

Cannon concluded by saying that he is preparing a biography of Rayburn for publication when he retires or takes a wife. He added he hoped that "neither disaster" would occur.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—A roving reporter never knows a town well. The moment he finishes his story, he stumbles to a cab laden with luggage. He is on his way home, he thinks. He doesn't even know that place well, because he is never in it long enough to know the people.

I like this town. I've been here over a week and, when I wasn't at the rape trial, I ran my rented sedan all over the countryside. Tallahassee is quiet. It's tucked away in the garter of Florida, and it runs a couple of dozen streets in one direction, and a dozen in the other.

It has palm trees and nice shops and a lot of sweet talk. The silver dome of the state capitol is here. So are some state bureaus and the Supreme Court. There are law offices over banks and stores and the Seaboard Airline Railroad runs a one-track system from here to Jacksonville, 169 miles east.

The harmonica horns on the locomotives cause a lot of old men to pull out their gold turnips and gravely consult the time. There are 47,000 people in Tallahassee, two indoor movies and a couple of drive-in movies, including one for Negroes only.

There are neat little parks, with shady old oaks, and little benches with advertisements on their backs. Some of the finest families are interrelated in several directions, so that, at a Sunday lawn party, an awful lot of guests are really kissing cousins.

There is one band on television—channel 6. This is supplemented by a few radio stations, and one newspaper, The Tallahassee Democrat. When the big reporters and newsreel men arrived from New York for the rape trial, they found that the Democrat was playing the story in the second section.

To eat properly, one must be invited to a home. Nothing, as my stomach can testify, is as bad as restaurant southern cooking. The chefs fry everything. No one ever showed them that the stove has an inside compartment. The chicken comes up like a breaded inner tube.

The grits aren't bad. I like them. A pat of butter and a little salt make grits palatable. It looks like farina, but one must never use sugar and milk on good grits. The black-eyed peas remind me of bean soup cooked with a strip of bacon.

Mrs. Barbara Frye, of the local UPI office, took me to a couple of places where the steaks were good. So did the William Hopkins. But, unless you know a good restaurant, southern cooking will do worse than kill you. It leaves you maimed.

The people here are gentle and proud. They have manners and breeding, and a crime like the recent rape case leaves them sick at heart. I have never seen so many responsible citizens beg off serving on a jury as in this case. When it was over, these men knew that they would have to begin living with each other again.

Sheriff Bill Joyce is one who never forgets that he has to live with everybody around here. He had charge of press relations in the old courthouse and, the way he had it planned, all of the local radio stations and the local newspaper would sit in front, and the boys from New York could find a seat, if there was a seat.

One newsman said that a Negro reporter was coming from New York. The sheriff thought this over for a moment. "All colored people sit up in the balcony," he said. "That's the rule here."

Did that mean the reporter too? The sheriff nodded. "If he's colored, he sits with the colored people." It began to look as though, in the battle for seats, that this particular reporter might be the only one who would have a seat. Further, as the balcony looks down on the proceedings in the court with a much better view than the ground-floor seats — huddled behind a railing and counsel tables — the balcony became desirable.

So the white reporter thought he would outsmart the sheriff. "Fine," he said. "Tell you what, sheriff. All the reporters will go into the balcony with the New York man."

The sheriff shook his head. "Nothing doing," he said. "We ain't gonna have no integratin' in that balcony." . . .

Danger Signals Warn Of Tubal Pregnancies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The fertilized ovum develops normally in the uterus. Now and then, it attaches itself and begins to grow somewhere in the abdomen outside the womb (ectopic pregnancy). This is not normal and the pregnancy usually is doomed to failure.

In most instances, the ovum becomes embedded in one of the fallopian tubes. The lining membrane of these passageways attempts to undergo changes like those that occur with pregnancy in the uterus. But the wall of the fallopian tube is thin and its tissues are not suited to the needs of a developing baby. Furthermore, the interior diameter of the tube is less than a quarter inch wide. It cannot be stretched too much by the growing fetus before it bleeds or ruptures.

The first few weeks of an ectopic pregnancy are no different from an ordinary pregnancy. There is the usual missed period and everything goes along routinely for an additional four to six weeks when spotting or slight bleeding begins.

Cramping pains may be noted on one side or the other which may be so mild as to be considered insignificant. Bleeding may make the woman suspect a miscarriage but tubal pregnancy is a more likely cause when it is combined with one sided abdominal pain.

When distress is continuous or colicky, internal bleeding may be taking place. On the other hand, when pain is sudden and severe, there is a good possibility that extensive bleeding has occurred or the growing ovum has ruptured into the abdominal cavity.

These are danger signals, especially when accompanied by weakness or faintness. The physician should be called promptly because immediate surgery may be needed to prevent or stop hemorrhage. The outcome usually is excellent when the condition is recognized and treated promptly. Many of these women subsequently have normal pregnancies. The chance of having a second ectopic pregnancy varies from 3 to 4 per cent.

Now and then a fertilized ovum attaches itself to the intestine and there are medical reports in which the baby survives and is delivered alive through an abdominal incision. On rare occasions, multiple fertilization has occurred, with one fetus in a tube and another in the uterus.

HET UP

H. J. writes: I'm very fond of a certain individual but when I'm with him I get so tense I develop nausea. Are the nerves connected with the stomach?

REPLY

And how! The same nerves that make lovers lose appetite give young men ulcers. Banthine and allied ulcer remedies divorce the brain from the stomach and might be useful in your case to encourage a more comfortable courtship.

RECTAL DISORDERS

R. A. writes: Please describe fissure and fistula of the rectum.

REPLY

A rectal fissure is a small furrow or crack in the rectal wall. A fistula is an abnormal passageway leading from an abscess in the rectum to an outside opening. We have leaflets on both these conditions that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

HARDENED NAIL

J. D. writes: What could make the nail of one of the big toes turn to stone?

REPLY

Age and poor circulation are the most common causes. Many elderly persons have thickened toe nails. In some instances they grow and look like horns.

BOWEL SPASM

W. G. writes: My doctor tells me I have a lot of spasm down my intestinal tract. He gave me medicine but did not explain. Can you tell me what this condition is?

REPLY

The circular muscles that surround the intestine normally are in a constant state of contraction and relaxation. In this way, food is propelled toward the rectum. These muscles are under control of the automatic nervous system. In high-strung persons, they may overcontract and cause painful spasms. Anti-spasmodic products help temporarily but more permanent relief comes from developing equanimity.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

"Heck, no!" boomed the customer, "but Cindy Lou and ah aims to visit Europe and I don't want the bloodsuckin' cayutes to know ahm from Texas."

"How's business?" inquired a customer of two partners in a dress manufacturing house. "Well," one partner answered cautiously, 'we're having our ups and downs."

When the customer had left the other partner, silent until now, exploded, "I ought to punch you right in the nose! Holding out on me, hey? Since when have we had any ups?'

Evidence Backs Up Estimate Communism Is Losing Out In Non-Red Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The estimate of Walter S. Robertson that communism is losing out in non-Communist Asia is based on more than wishful thinking on the part of a retiring assistant secretary of state who has been engaged for six years in trying to promote such a situation.

The estimate is based on State Department intelligence reports through 1958, and on new reports since the establishment of communes in Red China and the overthrow by Red China of Tibet's Dalai Lama.

The Communist march toward what looked like almost certain victory in Indonesia has been reversed by establishment of what is virtually a military government under President Sukarno and the head of the army.

Public demonstrations of considerable importance are occurring against the Communist government of Kerala state in India, one of the few places where Communists have ever attained power through free elections.

The moderate government of Ceylon has survived, so far, the resignation of leftist ministers who, though non-Communists, had Communist support.

The government of Laos appears to be on the verge of liquidating the Communist military force which, since the war in Indochina, had controlled a section of the country until recently.

India, although its government maintains a policy of coexistence with Red China, has displayed strong anti - Communist currents since the Tibet affair. Communists try to escape the taint of international communism.

Pakistan maintains its strict suppression of communism, although there is some activity in East Pakistan. Soviet support of India in the Kashmir dispute has worked against them in Pakistan, as well as among the largely Moslem population of Kashmir.

Burma works hard on neutralism. Anti-Soviet demonstrations have occurred. A new campaign against Chinese-supported Communists guerrillas is under way.

Malaya has the long Communist guerrilla war well in hand, and the party appears to be in a steady decline.

South Viet Nam grows increasingly stable although some Communists continue to work for unrest at the village level.

There is no evidence that communism has made any headway among the people of Formosa.

Any Communist activity in South Korea is completely underground.

The party in Japan is nationwide, but has failed in its attempts to hide subservience to Moscow, is internally divided and, despite propaganda activity, is believed to be at a standstill.

Late Profit-Taking Fails To Wipe Out Market Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavy profit-taking at the last minute cut stock prices from the day's highs but the session nevertheless was chalked up on the plus side.

Some of the best gainers early in the session closed with net losses but the major groups closed higher and, of a total 1,205 issues appearing on the tape, 566 finished the day on the upside while 398 showed declines.

Trading was at a faster pace, especially early in the day when the advance was being pushed ahead at a brisk pace. Turnover of 3,150,000 shares for the session compared with 2,850,000 on Wednesday when the list shot up on increased activity just before the close in a way which indicated to many in Wall Street that the traditional summer rally may have begun.

Despite the late shaving of prices, there were good gains scored in many groups, particularly the metals where Alcoa rose 2 points, International Nickel 2⅝, Kaiser Aluminum 2⅞.

Rails, meeting added demand following the report of 19 month high carloadings, showed gains ranging around 1½ points in Kansas City Southern and Atlantic Coast Line and showed the best percentage gain in the averages.

Steels, Wednesday's pace-setters, generally suffered setbacks although Republic rose nearly a point on disclosure of a new method of steel making. Lukens lost nearly 2.

Du Pont, up sharply initially, closed with a 2 point loss. Union Carbide added a point. High-priced Rohm & Haas gained 8¾ to 601¾.

Among electronics, losses ranged to 6 points in International Business Machines, 4¾ Litton, 4¼ Texas Instruments, 2⅞ Zenith, but Ampex gained 2 points.

The drugs generally were higher although realizing erased all of any early sharp gains scored by Vick Chemical on news of a new drug. American Home Products, Merck and Smith, Kline & French were up over 2 points each.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grains were moderately mixed Thursday on the Chicago board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to up ½; corn off ¼ to 70 ⅛; oats unchanged to off ⅛; new oats up ¼ to ⅜; rye off ⅜ to up ⅛ and soybeans off ⅛ to up ¼.

Wheat was strong at mid-day with some prices up more than a cent from early lows, but prices fell later on news the house rejected the wheat bill. There was fair hedge selling, but offerings were easily absorbed by scattered commission houses. Brokers associated with a prominent operator sold July and September. Harvesting to be active, but selling at Kansas City was light.

Corn was about steady, with nearby contracts inclined to be slightly lower. Commission houses were on both sides of July. Cash houses bought. Some large local traders bought December and March. Export acceptances totaled 1,400,000 bushels.

The spot corn basis started 5 cents over July.

Old oats were steady, and new oats firm. There was scattered selling early.

Rye was steady, and soybeans rallied from the opening. The steady level. Some of the buying was apparently due to the upturn in wheat. Northwest houses bought July, and local traders sold.

Oils were slightly higher, but meals and lards were irregular.

According to reports, India purchased 440,000 bushels of gulf hard wheat for July shipment. Formosa was said to have bought two cargoes of western white wheat.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Late Profit-Taking Fails To Wipe Out Market Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavy profit-taking at the last minute cut stock prices from the day's highs but the session nevertheless was chalked up on the plus side.

Some of the best gainers early in the session closed with net losses but the major groups closed higher and, of a total 1,205 issues appearing on the tape, 566 finished the day on the upside while 398 showed declines.

Trading was at a faster pace, especially early in the day when the advance was being pushed ahead at a brisk pace. Turnover of 3,150,000 shares for the session compared with 2,850,000 on Wednesday when the list shot up on increased activity just before the close in a way which indicated to many in Wall Street that the traditional summer rally may have begun.

Despite the late shaving of prices, there were good gains scored in many groups, particularly the metals where Alcoa rose 2 points, International Nickel 2⅜, Kaiser Aluminum 2⅞.

Rails, meeting added demand following the report of 19 month high carloadings, showed gains ranging around 1½ points in Kansas City Southern and Atlantic Coast Line and showed the best percentage gain in the averages.

Steels, Wednesday's pace-setters, generally suffered setbacks although Republic rose nearly a point on disclosure of a new method of steel making. Lukens lost nearly 2.

Du Pont, up sharply initially, closed with a 2 point loss. Union Carbide added a point. High-priced Rohm & Haas gained 8¾ to 601¾.

Among electronics, losses ranged to 6 points in International Business Machines, 4¾ Litton, 4¼ Texas Instruments, 2⅞ Zenith, but Ampex gained 2 points.

The drugs generally were higher although realizing erased all of any early sharp gains scored by Vick Chemical on news of a new drug. American Home Products, Merck and Smith, Kline & French were up over 2 points each.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grains were moderately mixed Thursday on the Chicago board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to up ½; corn off ¼ to 70 ⅛; oats unchanged to off ⅛; new oats up ¼ to ⅜; rye off ⅜ to up ⅛ and soybeans off ⅛ to up ⅛.

Wheat was strong at mid-day with some prices up more than a cent from early lows, but prices fell later on news the house rejected the wheat bill. There was fair hedge selling, but offerings were easily absorbed by scattered commission houses. Brokers associated with a prominent operator sold July and September. Harvesting to be active, but selling at Kansas City was light.

Corn was about steady, with nearby contracts inclined to be slightly lower. Commission houses were on both sides of July. Cash houses bought. Some large local traders bought December and March. Export acceptances totaled 1,400,000 bushels.

The spot corn basis started 5 cents over July.

Old oats were steady, and new oats firm. There was scattered selling early.

Rye was steady, and soybeans rallied from the opening. The steady level. Some of the buying was apparently due to the upturn in wheat. Northwest houses bought July, and local traders sold.

Oils were slightly higher, but meals and lards were irregular.

According to reports, India purchased 440,000 bushels of gulf hard wheat for July shipment. Formosa was said to have bought two cargoes of western white wheat.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Affects Business

LONDON (UPI) — A British doctors' magazine said Thursday a man's home life "can make or mar" his business career. "Domestic problems may do the executive infinitely more harm than worry about his firm's bad debts or the state of the stock exchange," said the magazine family doctor.

Skewered Sweetbreads

For a summer meal planned outdoors, use sweetbreads to vary the menu. Here's how it is done. Simmer 1½ pounds sweetbreads 20 minutes. Break into pieces which may be placed on a skewer. Bacon slices and mushrooms play an important role in this recipe. Thread sweetbreads on skewers alternately with mushrooms. Bacon slices should be skewered so as to weave back and forth, thereby separating each sweetbread and mushroom. Broil until bacon is cooked.

There are more than three million automatic vending machines in the United States.

The 1-2-3 Of Meat Storage

Canned hams weighing over 3 pounds should be stored in the refrigerator. Cured meats should be kept in the refrigerator closely wrapped. Fresh meat should be kept loosely wrapped or uncovered in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Iced Kaffeeklatsch Good When Served On Patio

It's only natural that the kaffeelatsch should be just as popular in the summer as it is in the winter. After all, there's just as much to talk about! But there is one big difference between the winter coffee and the summer coffee. In the winter, it's hot — in the summer, it's icy cold. And, of course, it makes a lot of sense when you want to cool off out on the patio.

When you serve iced coffee, it's a good idea to have something to nibble on, and Little Hermits are just the ticket. They're chewy and delicious — and, best of all, they're easy to make. The iced coffee, by the way, is also easy to make. You simple have to brew your hot coffee strong enough to avoid dilution from melting ice.

Here are the measurements for making four servings of extra-strength coffee in any type of coffee maker: use six standard coffee measures (or 12 level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to three measuring cups of water. Pour the brewed coffee into four tall, ice-filled glasses and serve it with cream and sugar, or sugar syrup. Your coffee will be truly flaverful and you can enjoy your summer kaffeeklatsch to your heart's content.

Little Hermits

- 2 cups seedless raisins
- 1 cup shortening
- 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon molasses
- 3 eggs, unbeaten
- 3¾ cups sifted all - purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 tablespoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon cloves
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Rinse raisins in hot water, drain and dry on paper toweling. Cream shortening, sugar and molasses. Add eggs and beat well. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking soda and spices and add. Mix lightly. Stir in raisins and nutmeats. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven, 375°, 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 9 dozen small cookies.

Summer Sandwich Variety

Help spice up your summer sandwich fillings with a Deviled Salami mixture. Simply combine ½ pound finely chopped salami, ¾ cup canned baked beans with tomato sauce which have been drained, 2 teaspoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon horseradish. Mix well and serve as sandwich filling.

Frozen Meat Cookery

When frozen meat cuts are cooked without defrosting, the cooking time is longer. Frozen roasts require at least 15 to 25 minutes per pound longer than fresh roasts. Frozen steaks and chops need at least 10 to 15 minutes per pound additional cooking time in comparison with the fresh cuts.

Cranberries Star In Dad's Day Menus

Chicken and cranberry sauce . . . the stars of the Dad's Day menu. Both are plentiful foods for good eating all year round. Chicken, expertly cleaned and packaged, is available fresh and frozen in just the right cuts for everyone's needs. Cranberry sauce is canned the year round from ruby fresh frozen berries.

Popular favorites now and many years ago, too. In Roman days chicken meat was so much in demand a law was passed limiting the number of chickens eaten. Cranberries were picked by hand by North American Indians who found many uses for the tart fruit.

Popularity hasn't changed, but ease of preparation has. Reary to serve cranberry sauce and canned pears combine to make this delightful relish the star of Dad's Day menu. So good, so attractive and so easy.

Pear Relish

- 1 (1-lb.) can whole cranberry sauce
- 1 or 2 canned or fresh pears, diced
- ½ lemon, put through food chopper, including rind
- 1 teaspoon powdered ginger

Almond Relish

- 1 pound can whole cranberry sauce
- 2 tablespoons orange marmalade
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- ⅔ cup blanched almonds, halved or chopped walnuts or pecans

Combine whole cranberry sauce, orange marmalade, and lemon juice. Blanch almonds and remove skins (better yet, use canned blanched almonds). Cut in halves. Cool. Stir into cranberry marmalade mixture. Serve well chilled. Makes 2 cups relish. Serve with chicken, duckling or turkey.

Lemon Freeze

- 1 can (1-lb.) whole cranberry sauce
- 1 pint lemon sherbet, softened

Fold cranberry sauce into softened sherbet. Place in 1 quart freezing tray and freeze until firm. Serve as a refreshing dessert, fruit cup topping or as a frozen relish with lamb.

Blossom Punch

- 1½ cups cranberry juice cocktail
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons powdered milk

WASHINGTON—In the present state of world conditions, this question is frequently asked. It is, of course, difficult to answer. The solution will require the wisdom, forthrightness and vision of our national leaders and the unflinching support of our people. Courageous decisions will be meaningless unless all Americans are prepared to meet the challenge. The U.S. and its allies must not be timid in telling the Soviets that the free world will resist without hesitation all further Communist aggression in any area of the globe.

Former President Hoover phrased the challenge of these critical times in this manner only recently: "... the time has come for a determined stand ..." against "creeping Communist conquest." In his view, a lack of firmness on the part of the Western world has accounted for many of today's problems and frustrations.

Under conditions of equality with respect to nuclear weapons, a total war would cause devastating damage to the United States as well as to the Soviet Union. The Russians realize this, and it is doubtful that they would do anything which would lead them down the road to destruction. So long as our military strength—our retaliatory and deterrent capabilities—are effectively maintained, general war is only a remote possibility. But, it can be expected that the Communists will continue to stir up affairs in as many places as they can at one time.

U. N. General Assembly President Malik tells us that communism now controls one third of all mankind and that it has penetrated the remaining two-thirds to a varying degree. Within our own borders, according to FBI Director J .Edgar Hoover, American Communists have started a new drive to infiltrate some of our basic industries. The prime objectives of the Kremlin to communize the entire world and to destroy the values of freedom are obviously unchanged.

An so, wisdom, forthrightness and vision are needed domestically as well as internationally. If the U.S. and the Western world fall, all is lost. Our allies must substitute deeds for words—they must stick with us in resisting the Communist onslaught. If foreign aid is to be a permanent instrument for the conduct of international diplomacy, these funds should be dispensed to those countries who unhesitatingly and vigorously stand with us.

In this vital effort, all Americans can help by exposing the menace which would consume us for what it really is, and by awakening those who feel that it is no longer necessary to defend, with courage and conviction, freedom and liberty.

Meat Report

According to recommended cooking methods, beef can be cooked to the rare, medium or well-done stage. Veal and pork should always be cooked to the well-done stage while lamb can be, depending on personal preferences, cooked to either the medium or well-done stage.

Meals To Come

Turn to the large variety of canned meats your market has on display to give you more leisure and carefree days in the kitchen during the coming summer months.

Simple Roasting Instructions

Beef roasts, as indicated by research, are best prepared in a slow oven (300° F.). The exception to this rule is found when preparing a boneless beef rib eye roast. Due to its shape and small diameter, it is suggested the roast be prepared in a moderate oven (350° F.).

Chinese Cookery

The great culinary artists in the East . . . the Chinese . . . will tell us that Curried Rice makes an excellent accompaniment for braised lamb cubes. To prepare this rice specialty, simply add 1 cup rice, ½ cup raisins, 1 teaspoon salt and 1½ teaspoons curry powder to 4 cups boiling water. Cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes or until the rice is tender. Drain the rice but do not rinse.

Bean Specialty Introduced

Three cheers for Vienna Baked Beans. One cheer goes for its wonderful flavor, especially liked by the small-fry. Another goes to its easy preparation, and a third cheer is given for the few cents it costs per serving.

You may use either baked beans or beans in tomato sauce to prepare it, as the flavorful cheese stuffed Vienna sausages go equally well with either. Don't forget to pick up a can of brown bread to complement your bean specialty.

Vienna Baked Beans

2 cans (1 lb. each) baked beans, or beans in tomato sauce
3 tablespoons finely chopped dill pickle
1 small onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 cans (4 oz. each) Vienna sausage
½ cup grated cheese

Combine beans, dill pickle, finely chopped onion and mustard; put into individual casseroles or a large baking dish. Slit the Vienna sausage lengthwise almost through and fill with cheese. Arrange on top of beans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 to 30 minutes, until hot. Five to six servings.

Beef Tip Of Sirloin Ideal For Sunday Dinner

Sunday dinners have always been considered somewhat special in most homes. And it takes a homemaker with a great deal of imagination to always plan something for the menu that's just a little different.

What is it and how is it prepared? As its name indicates, it is a cut from the sirloin section and is most frequently prepared as you would a pot-roast . . . that is by a moist heat method. However, if the roast is of high quality, it can be roasted in a slow oven (300°F.).

Braised Beef Sirloin Tip

5 to 7-pound beef sirloin tip
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt
Pepper

Brown meat on all sides in lard or drippings. Season. Add water. Cover tightly and simmer 3½ to 4 hours, or until tender. Add small amounts of water from time to time, if needed.

Beef Hors d'oeuvres

When preparing your next hors d'oeuvres tray be sure to include slices of cooked corned beef. Simply cut slices of corned beef to fit small buttered slices of party rye bread. Top each slice of meat with a bit of horseradish mustard.

Cheese Sauces Suggested For Meatless Meal Menus

Meatless meals please many palates and for many reasons. Sometimes the meal is meatless because the appetite for meat has diminished. At other times, meat is restricted for religious reasons. Or, the urge for something "different" will motivate homemakers to search for meatless menus.

The next time the meatless menu urge strikes you, take a page from old-time French cooks and remember that "sauces bridge the gap between menu monotony and diversion." In particular, cheese sauces have a way of blending appetite with satisfaction. The modern way to creamy cheese sauce with the flavor of old-time goodness, is through the use of process cheeses.

There are countless combinations of foods which are complemented by cheese. Plump, pink shrimp blended with cheese sauce and used as a filling for parboiled green peppers is one combination which ends the search for a meatless main dish. The shrimp remains moist and succulent and its flavor is especially nice for this combination. Cheese sauce for fish cookery, be it shellfish or fillets, brings fish to your table well flavored and moist, not dried out and tasteless.

Home economists recommend blending cream cheese with process cheese food to make a sauce of custardy consistency for this perfect pepper main dish.

The Spanish Answer

Teen-Agers Need Protein Breakfast

That mid-morning hunger feeling among teen-agers can be stopped with a good serving of eggs at breakfast, in the opinion of Kathryn B. Niles, director of home economics for the Poultry and Egg National Board. "This," she says, "is because high protein foods are slowly digested, thus hunger comes less quickly after eating a breakfast with eggs."

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day, according to Mrs. Niles. But unfortunately about one-half of the American population does not eat what nutritionists consider an adequate breakfast. And a large segment of this group consists of teen-agers who need breakfast badly. Breakfast should provide at least one-fourth of the teen-ager's total daily food intake.

It is foolhardy for high school students to trade their breakast for a little extra morning sleep. It's a poor trade! And it is practically impossible for youngsters to make up the food they miss at breakfast by eating snacks or "overeating" at other meals.

The Nation's more than 18 million teen-agers are growing like weeds, and they have amazing appetites! Their nutritional needs are at a high point in their lives.

It is during the change from childhood to adulthood that profound physicai physiological, and emotional changes occur. Good food contributes substantially toward making this a healthy change. Much of the groundwork for health in later life is laid during the teen-age period, and it is often impossible to compensate for nutritional damage incurred during the teen years.

Research, including work done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, shows that youngsters are less irritable, have fewer headaches, and get through their daily activities best when they eat well-balanced breakfasts. A good protein breakfast reduces nervousness and inefficiency, especially in the late morning hours. It provides for greater stability of output, results in fewer work and play accidents, and reduces indecisiveness. The proteins of eggs have the highest biological value of all known proteins! In fact, egg proteins are the common reference used by research scientists to compare values of other proteins.

Eggs are also an exceptionally good source of iron, vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin, and vitamin D, as well as other vitamins and minerals needed so much by teen-agers. And teen-age girls, says Mrs. Niles, will be particularly happy to learn that eggs are low in total calories. With less than 70 calories per medium egg, eggs are actually lower in calories than practically all meats, although combinations of "ham and eggs" or "bacon and eggs" cannot be excelled for the teen-age breakfast.

The glamour-minded girl and the all 'round boy will feel better, work and play better, and be healthier if they make eggs a part of that well-balanced meal at breakfast.

Try New Unbaked Cookies

Now that hot summer days have arrived, many ovens will be turned off for the season. Does that mean that the kiddies will have to do without cookies for the summer? Of course not, for these cookies aren't even baked. These Chocolate-Peanut Mounds are a sweet blending of chocolate, marshmallow, peanut butter, nuts, coconut and rolled oats. They will please the sandbox set completely as well as make Mother happy, for they are so easy to make and so nutritious. Try them now and introduce them at snack time.

Chocolate-Peanut Mounds
Makes 3 dozen cookies

One 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
16 large marshmallows
1/4 cup cruch-style peanut butter
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup flaked or shredded coconut
1/2 cup chopped nutmeats
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Melt chocolate pieces, marshmallows, peanut butter and butter in top of double boiler over boiling water. Stir until smooth. Remove from heat; stir in milk, coconut, nutmeats and oats. Mix thoroughly. Drop from a teaspoon onto waxed paper. Chill thoroughly. Sprinkle with sifted confectioners' sugar. Keep in refrigerator.

Old Or Young, Enjoy Caramel Nut Dumplings

Old and young alike are usually in complete harmony when the discussion comes around to food, particularly desserts. Most everyone will admit that dumplings are a mighty fine tasting dessert, especially these Caramel-Nut Dumplings.

Now is the time to experiment with a few of these warm desserts before the hot weather is upon us and our tastes yearn for something cool.

Often homemakers will not attempt the preparation of dumplings because of previous unsuccessful results. In this recipe, however, lard has been used to help produce light and tender dumplings. During the preparation, be sure the lard is cut into the dry ingredients evenly.

Also, once the batter has been dropped by spoonfuls into the caramel sirup and covered, do not even steal a short look . . . leave the cover in place until the end of the cooking period, to obtain the best product possible.

Caramel Nut Dumpling

1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 tablespoon salt
3 tablespoons lard
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Heat 1/2 cup sugar in a large frying-pan until it melts and turns a golden color. Add the boiling water gradually, 1 cup sugar, 1/8 teaspoon salt and butter or margarine. Allow to boil 10 minutes. Sift together flour, 1/4 cup sugar, baking powder and 1/4 cup sugar, baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cut lard into dry ingredients until crumbs are about the size of small peas. Add nuts. Combine egg milk and vanilla. Add all at once to dry ingredients, stirring only enough to moisten. At the end of the boiling time, drop batter by spoonfuls into boiling caramel sirup. Cover tightly, reduce heat. Allow dumplings to simmer 18 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Hints For The Host

In addition to carving know-how, sharp knives are essential to successful carving. They should always be kept with a sharp edge and stored in a special place where their edges will be protected.

Guide To Snacks

Snacks are here to stay but instead of furnishing the family with snacks high in calories and low in nutritive value, give them appetizing ones which provide protein, vitamins and minerals.

Slick Pork Salad

When leftover cooked pork poses a problem in creating second-day meat dishes, try this unusual Pork Apple Salad. Combine 2 cups diced cooked pork, 1 cup diced celery, 1 1/2 cups diced apple, 1 1/2 cups grated carrots, 1 shredded green pepper, and mayonnaise. Serve this combination as a Saturday supper or Sunday evening meal.

Protein In The Diet

Protein is used in the diet mainly to build and repair the body as well as to aid in resisting infections.

Teen-Agers Need Protein Breakfast

That mid-morning hunger feeling among teen-agers can be stopped with a good serving of eggs at breakfast, in the opinion of Kathryn B. Niles, director of home economics for the Poultry and Egg National Board. "This," she says, "is because high protein foods are slowly digested, thus hunger comes less quickly after eating a breakfast with eggs."

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day, according to Mrs. Niles. But unfortunately about one-half of the American population does not eat what nutritionists consider an adequate breakfast. And a large segment of this group consists of teen-agers who need breakfast badly. Breakfast should provide at least one-fourth of the teen-ager's total daily food intake.

It is foolhardy for high school students to trade their breakast for a little extra morning sleep. It's a poor trade! And it is practically impossible for youngsters to make up the food they miss at breakfast by eating snacks or "overeating" at other meals.

The Nation's more than 18 million teen-agers are growing like weeds, and they have amazing appetites! Their nutritional needs are at a high point in their lives.

It is during the change from childhood to adulthood that profound physical physiological, and emotional changes occur. Good food contributes substantially toward making this a healthy change. Much of the groundwork for health in later life is laid during the teen-age period, and it is often impossible to compensate for nutritional damage incurred during the teen years.

Research, including work done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, shows that youngsters are less irritable, have fewer headaches, and get through their daily activities best when they eat well-balanced breakfasts. A good protein breakfast reduces nervousness and inefficiency, especially in the late morning hours. It provides for greater stability of output, results in fewer work and play accidents, and reduces indecisiveness. The proteins of eggs have the highest biological value of all known proteins! In fact, egg proteins are the common reference used by research scientists to compare values of other proteins.

Eggs are also an exceptionally good source of iron, vitamin A, thiamin, riboflavin, and vitamin D, as well as other vitamins and minerals needed so much by teen-agers. And teen-age girls, says Mrs. Niles, will be particularly happy to learn that eggs are low in total calories. With less than 70 calories per medium egg, eggs are actually lower in calories than practically all meats, although combinations of "ham and eggs" or "bacon and eggs" cannot be excelled for the teen-age breakfast.

The glamour-minded girl and the all 'round boy will feel better, work and play better, and be healthier if they make eggs a part of that well-balanced meal at breakfast.

Try New Unbaked Cookies

Now that hot summer days have arrived, many ovens will be turned off for the season. Does that mean that the kiddies will have to do without cookies for the summer? Of course not, for these cookies aren't even baked. These Chocolate-Peanut Mounds are a sweet blending of chocolate, marshmallow, peanut butter, nuts, coconut and rolled oats. They will please the sandbox set completely as well as make Mother happy, for they are so easy to make and so nutritious. Try them now and introduce them at snack time.

Accused Cop-Killer Waives Extradition

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (UPI) — John Coyle, 24, whose ambition was to be a "better man than John Dillinger," identified his brother's bullet-riddled body in a morgue Thursday and then waived extradition to Philadelphia to be tried on a cop-killing charge.

His brother, William, 22, was shot 10 times in a gunbattle with police who cornered the brothers in a cranberry bog Wednesday. John surrendered before he was hit.

It was an end to their career not unlike that of Dillinger, the 1930s desperado who was trapped and killed outside a Chicago theater by FBI agents.

Wearing chino trousers and a polka dot sports shirt, John coldly scanned his brother's body lying on a slab in the morgue. He walked around it and stopped to examine a head wound.

"Yeh, that's him," he said.

Joint Steel Talks To Resume Today

NEW YORK (UPI) —Private meetings between union officials and representatives of 12 major steel companies, which had been in progress for two days, ended late Thursday without either side disclosing any details of the discussions.

The wind-up of company-by-company discussions of local problems in the various plants paved the way for the resumption Friday of industry-wide bargaining by the two top-level teams of labor and management in an effort to reach a contract settlement before the strike deadline of midnight June 30.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and R. Conrad Coper, U. S. Steel Corp. vice president and chief negotiator for the industry, head the two four - man teams which resume collective bargaining Friday.

Academy Airfield Proposal Revived

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal to build an airfield at the Air Force Academy to teach cadets how to fly has been revived by an advisory group. The project would cost about 19 million dollars.

Cadets at the new Colorado Springs, Colo., academy now are taught many things about airplanes—but are taught to fly elsewhere after their graduation.

A report by the Board of Visitors for the academy, made to President Eisenhower recently, urges that an airstrip be built and flying instructions included among the courses.

Eisenhower has turned the report over to Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy who has passed it along to Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas.

The Air Force itself so far has made no new request for authority and money to build the airfield.

Accused Cop-Killer Waives Extradition

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (UPI) — John Coyle, 24, whose ambition was to be a "better man than John Dillinger," identified his brother's bullet-riddled body in a morgue Thursday and then waived extradition to Philadelphia to be tried on a cop-killing charge.

His brother William, 22, was shot 10 times in a gunbattle with police who cornered the brothers in a cranberry bog Wednesday. John surrendered before he was hit.

It was an end to their career not unlike that of Dillinger, the 1930s desperado who was trapped and killed outside a Chicago theater by FBI agents.

Wearing chino trousers and a polka dot sports shirt, John coldly scanned his brother's body lying on a slab in the morgue. He walked around it and stopped to examine a head wound.

"Yeh, that's him," he said.

Joint Steel Talks To Resume Today

NEW YORK (UPI) —Private meetings between union officials and representatives of 12 major steel companies, which had been in progress for two days, ended late Thursday without either side disclosing any details of the discussions.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and R. Conrad Coper, U. S. Steel Corp. vice president and chief negotiator for the industry, head the two four - man teams which resume collective bargaining Friday.

Paul Douglas Of Illinois One Of More Entertaining Speakers In U. S. Senate

By ARTHUR EDSON

A big man with tumbled white hair, Douglas at 67 looks somewhat like a polar bear who has been taught to give lectures, and is glad of it.

Now to say that a senator is entertaining is dismal praise. Congress usually is so dull that if it charged admission, and had to live within its income, it would have gone out of business long ago.

But several congressmen try hard. And Douglas occasionally shakes off his prolonged arguments, and his beloved statistics, and becomes a trier.

Douglas was an economist and college professor before he plunged into politics. And the habits he picked up in the classroom are with him in the Senate.

A teacher approaching a little joke or humorous twist starts his eyes a-twinkling, and when he unloads his jovial cargo he's so pleased with himself only a heel will fail to join in the laughter.

You'll get a sample of the Douglas from this:

"Does the senator remember the argument" — eyes become quite merry—"which was made by an Iowa mother to the Iowa Legislature, that even if they were not interested in the health care of children, but were interested in the health care of hogs, children who were sick could not take care of hogs very well, and that therefore, in order to protect hogs, it was necessary to have healthy children?"

Douglas can make fun of himself. Here's a comment on his early political life:

"At that time I was involved in local problems in the City of Chicago. My primary concern was the adequate collection of garbage and certain other rather minute issues. I was not dealing with national matters.

"I had ceased to be an economist and I had not yet become a statesman."

Who but Douglas would think of referring to certain governmental officials as pooh-bahs? Pooh-bah, a character in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Mikado," cheerfully served conflicting interests, and took money from them all.

And who but Douglas would think of bringing a character from one of George Bernard Shaw's plays into Senate debate? Douglas was jousting with Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt) when the exchange took place:

Douglas: "I hope the senator from Vermont will remain to hear the alternatives and that he will not be like the character in 'Heartbreak House,' Captain Shotwell, who would always ask puzzling questions and rush out the door, before the questions could be answered."

Aiken: "I expect to be here for a short time, anyway."

Balding Leads Canadian Open

Four Trail By Stroke With Scores Of 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada's tall, angular Al Balding took the lead in the first round of the Canadian Open Golf Championship Thursday with a 6-under-par 66 on the rain-soaked Islesmere course.

The 6-foot-3 golfer from Markham, Ont., put on a remarkable putting show to take a one-stroke lead over four of the top touring professionals from the United States.

A stroke behind at 67 were Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., who finished second in the U.S. Open last week; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., the 1959 Masters champion and leading money winner; Dow Finsterwald, U.S. PGA champion, and George Bayer, the power-hitter from Dallas.

There were 24 par breakers in an opening round marked by almost continuous rain and heavy clouds. Par for the 6,695-yard course is 36-36—72.

Tonnia Captures Shenandoah Feature

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —Alfred W. Williams' Tonnia, one-time holder of the track record for one and one-sixteenth mile, won the eighth and feature race at Shenandoah Downs Thursday night, but her time of 1:48 was well off the present record of 1:46 3-5.

A ladies' night crowd of 4,127 made Tonnia a 2 to 1 favorite in the field of eight, and she paid $6.20, $3.20 and $2.40.

Killebrew Hits 23rd Homer As Senators Win

Kansas City Drops 5th Straight, 7-5

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Harmon Killebrew, Washington's "boy wonder," walloped his 23rd home run of the season and Roy Sievers his fifth to help the Senators hand the Kansas City Athletics their fifth straight defeat, 7-5 Thursday night.

The home runs by Killebrew and Sievers were hit back-to-back in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Ray Herbert and tied the score at 2-2. Kansas City then went ahead, 5-4 in the sixth, but Washington clinched the victory with a three-run rally in the bottom of the frame.

Jim Lemon started the rally with a single and after he was forced, singles by Reno Bertoia and Ron Samford tied the score. Murry Dickson relieved Herbert and yielded a double to pinch-hitter Julio Becquer that brought in the tie-breaking run. After an intentional pass loaded the bases, Bob Grim relieved Dickson and forced in another run by walking Bob Allison.

Harry Chiti and Dick Williams each homered for the Athletics, who collected only five hits off the combined pitching of Bill Fischer and Tex Clevenger. Fischer, who pitched until the seventh, was credited with his sixth triumph against two defeats.

The loss was Herbert's sixth in 10 decisions.

Four Trail By Stroke With Scores Of 67

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada's tall, angular Al Balding took the lead in the first round of the Canadian Open Golf Championship Thursday with a 6-under-par 66 on the rain-soaked Islesmere course.

The 6-foot-3 golfer from Markham, Ont., put on a remarkable putting show to take a one-stroke lead over four of the top touring professionals from the United States.

A stroke behind at 67 were Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., who finished second in the U.S. Open last week; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., the 1959 Masters champion and leading money winner; Dow Finsterwald, U.S. PGA champion, and George Bayer, the power-hitter from Dallas.

There were 24 par breakers in an opening round marked by almost continuous rain and heavy clouds. Par for the 6,695-yard course is 36-36—72.

Tonnia Captures Shenandoah Feature

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —Alfred W. Williams' Tonnia, one-time holder of the track record for one and one-sixteenth mile, won the eighth and feature race at Shenandoah Downs Thursday night, but her time of 1:48 was well off the present record of 1:46 3-5.

A ladies' night crowd of 4,127 made Tonnia a 2 to 1 favorite in the field of eight, and she paid $6.20, $3.20 and $2.40.

Paginton Farms' Wilway, was second making another unsuccessful bid for his seventh Shenandoah Downs victory and Sidney M. Follins' Jack Frost, got third money.

Killebrew Hits 23rd Homer As Senators Win

Kansas City Drops 5th Straight, 7-5

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Harmon Killebrew, Washington's "boy wonder," walloped his 23rd home run of the season and Roy Sievers his fifth to help the Senators hand the Kansas City Athletics their fifth straight defeat, 7-5 Thursday night.

The home runs by Killebrew and Sievers were hit back-to-back in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Ray Herbert and tied the score at 2-2. Kansas City then went ahead, 5-4 in the sixth, but Washington clinched the victory with a three-run rally in the bottom of the frame.

Jim Lemon started the rally with a single and after he was forced, singles by Reno Bertoia and Ron Samford tied the score. Murry Dickson relieved Herbert and yielded a double to pinch-hitter Julio Becquer that brought in the tie-breaking run. After an intentional pass loaded the bases, Bob Grim relieved Dickson and forced in another run by walking Bob Allison.

Harry Chiti and Dick Williams each homered for the Athletics, who collected only five hits off the combined pitching of Bill Fischer and Tex Clevenger. Fischer, who pitched until the seventh, was credited with his sixth triumph against two defeats.

The loss was Herbert's sixth in 10 decisions.

Pittsburgh Defeats Chicago In 13th Inning, 4-2

Face Records 16th Straight Win For Bucs

Posts 11th Victory Of Season; Skinner's Hit Defeats Henry

CHICAGO (AP) — Pittsburgh's ace fireman Elroy Face recorded his 16th straight triumph Thursday as the Pirates scored two runs in the 13th inning and defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Face, undefeated since May 30, 1958, pitched the final five runless innings — his longest stint of the year — on a yield of just three singles and gained his 11th conquest of the season.

Dick Groat's single opened the fourth overtime inning. After catcher Danny Kravitz forced Groat, Ted Kluszewski singled to send Kravitz to second.

Mantle Homer In 10th Sinks White Sox, 5-4

Yanks Make Sweep, Shantz Is Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit his 15th homer on reliever Gerry Staley's second pitch in the 10th inning Thursday and gave the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox. It gave the Yanks a sweep of the three-game series.

After a Yankee rally tied the score in the eighth, a fine throw to the plate by Jim Rivera nailed Bill Skowron to complete a double play that saved the game momentarily.

The Yanks tied the score at 4-4 in a wild eighth inning. Norm Siebern's single and Yogi Berra's double accounted for one run. Hector Lopez' single drove in Berra with the tying run. After an intentional pass loaded the bases, Rivera's throw saved Staley.

Wertz Sparks Boston To Win Over Tribe, 7-6

Harshman Cracks Cleveland String

BOSTON (AP) — Vic Wertz drove in three Boston runs including the game winner and Jack Harshman contributed stout relief pitching Thursday as the Red Sox snapped Cleveland's victory string at seven 7-6.

Wertz rapped his fifth homer, a double and a single good for one tally each

He singled down the right field line off the third Indian pitcher, Jim Perry, in the eight to crack a 6-6 deadlock after Pete Runnels walked and went to second on a wild pitch.

Harshman allowed only four base runners over the final five innings as he registered his first triumph of the campaign. He had lost six straight.

The only run off Harshman was unearned. Vic Power reached out and looped a curving double over third as the leadoff man in the fifth and scored on Wertz' two base throwing error.

Orioles Edge Detroit, 7-6

Carrasquel's Hit In Ninth Decides

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chico Carrasquel's bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth enabled the Baltimore Orioles to defeat Detroit 7-6 Thursday.

The Oriole shortstop also hit a two-run homer in the eighth as Baltimore battled back from a 6-1 deficit in the last two innings.

Gus Triandos' two-run round-tripper in the eighth and a solo home run by pitcher Jerry Walker in the third accounted for the other Oriole scores.

Detroit had picked up two runs in the first on one hit and a streak of wildness by Walker. The Tigers added three in the fourth on four hits, including Lou Berberet's two-run double, and scred once in the eight on a wild pitch by reliever Billy Hoeft.

Cities In Third Major League Will Be Announced On July 15

New York Backers Named; Loop Will Be Ready For 1961

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's third major league is a step closer to reality. A nucleus of cities, including New York, plans to announce the league's official formation by July 15. It expects to operate in 1961.

Bill Shea, chairman of Mayor Wagner's Baseball Committee, called a press conference Thursday to reveal the names of the three groups of well-heeled citizens who will put up the money for the New York club.

Toronto, Houston, Fort Worth-Dallas, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York were believed to be the basic cities with applicant from coast to coast.

Shea said the three main groups of backers of the New York franchise are headed by Mrs. Charles S. Payson, sister of John Hay Whitney, American ambassador to Great Britain; Mrs. Dorothy Killiam of Montreal, and Dwight Davis, son of the donor of tennis' Davis Cup trophy.

Shea said the three groups, who will have equal holdings, were interested only if a new stadium is built, as proposed by the mayor, at Flushing Meadows, former site of the world's fair.

Mayor Wagner has said the city would build the stadium if the third league definitely is established. The stadium would seat 52,000 and would cost between 12 and 13 million dollars.

Pittsburgh Defeats Chicago In 13th Inning, 4-2

Face Records 16th Straight Win For Bucs

Posts 11th Victory Of Season; Skinner's Hit Defeats Henry

CHICAGO (AP) — Pittsburgh's ace fireman Elroy Face recorded his 16th straight triumph Thursday as the Pirates scored two runs in the 13th inning and defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Face, undefeated since May 30, 1958, pitched the final five runless innings — his longest stint of the year — on a yield of just three singles and gained his 11th conquest of the season.

Bill Henry, Wednesday's winner for the Cubs' drew the loss — his third among eight decisions.

Dick Groat's single opened the fourth overtime inning. After catcher Danny Kravitz forced Groat, Ted Kluszewski singled to send Kravitz to second.

Yanks Make Sweep, Shantz Is Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle hit his 15th homer on reliever Gerry Staley's second pitch in the 10th inning Thursday and gave the New York Yankees a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox. It gave the Yanks a sweep of the three-game series.

After a Yankee rally tied the score in the eighth, a fine throw to the plate by Jim Rivera nailed Bill Skowron to complete a double play that saved the game momentarily.

Bobby Shantz, third Yankee pitcher, worked three perfect innings to win his first game of the season.

The Yanks tied the score at 4-4 in a wild eighth inning. Norm Siebern's single and Yogi Berra's double accounted for one run. Hector Lopez' single drove in Berra with the tying run. After an intentional pass loaded the bases, Rivera's throw saved Staley.

Wertz Sparks Boston To Win Over Tribe, 7-6

Harshman Cracks Cleveland String

BOSTON (AP) — Vic Wertz drove in three Boston runs including the game winner and Jack Harshman contributed stout relief pitching Thursday as the Red Sox snapped Cleveland's victory string at seven 7-6.

Wertz rapped his fifth homer, a double and a single good for one tally each

He singled down the right field line off the third Indian pitcher, Jim Perry, in the eight to crack a 6-6 deadlock after Pete Runnels walked and went to second on a wild pitch.

Harshman allowed only four base runners over the final five innings as he registered his first triumph of the campaign. He had lost six straight.

The only run off Harshman was unearned. Vic Power reached out and looped a curving double over third as the leadoff man in the fifth and scored on Wertz' two base throwing error.

Orioles Edge Detroit, 7-6

Carrasquel's Hit In Ninth Decides

BALTIMORE (AP)—Chico Carrasquel's bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth enabled the Baltimore Orioles to defeat Detroit 7-6 Thursday.

The Oriole shortstop also hit a two-run homer in the eighth as Baltimore battled back from a 6-1 deficit in the last two innings.

Gus Triandos' two-run round-tripper in the eighth and a solo home run by pitcher Jerry Walker in the third accounted for the other Oriole scores.

Detroit had picked up two runs in the first on one hit and a streak of wildness by Walker. The Tigers added three in the fourth on four hits, including Lou Berberet's two-run double, and scred once in the eight on a wild pitch by reliever Billy Hoeft.

Cities In Third Major League Will Be Announced On July 15

New York Backers Named; Loop Will Be Ready For 1961

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's third major league is a step closer to reality. A nucleus of cities, including New York, plans to announce the league's official formation by July 15. It expects to operate in 1961.

Bill Shea, chairman of Mayor Wagner's Baseball Committee, called a press conference Thursday to reveal the names of the three groups of well-heeled citizens who will put up the money for the New York club.

Toronto, Houston, Fort Worth-Dallas, Minneapolis-St. Paul and New York were believed to be the basic cities with applicants from coast to coast.

Shea said the three main groups of backers of the New York franchise are headed by Mrs. Charles S. Payson, sister of John Hay Whitney, American ambassador to Great Britain; Mrs. Dorothy Killiam of Montreal, and Dwight Davis, son of the donor of tennis' Davis Cup trophy.

Shea said the three groups, who will have equal holdings, were interested only if a new stadium is built, as proposed by the mayor, at Flushing Meadows, former site of the world's fair.

Mayor Wagner has said the city would build the stadium if the third league definitely is established. The stadium would seat 52,000 and would cost between 12 and 13 million dollars.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition) notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, June 8, 1959, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed twelve (12) foot alley lying between the northerly boundary of Fectig Avenue and the southerly boundary of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 495 feet, more or less, and Rosewood Street which runs from the northerly side of an unnamed alley, which alley lies in the rear of or constitutes the eastern extension of Fectig Avenue, to the southerly side of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 490 feet, more or less, all located in Bopp's Suburban Addition Amended to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises (2:00 P.M., June 1, 1959) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour, the Commissioners report that no property owners appeared to be heard for or against the closing of said street and alley, and therefore, the Commissioners present the following:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots in Bopp's Suburban Addition binding on the portion of said unnamed alley and the portion of said Rosewood Street in said Addition, or of any other lots located in said Addition, or any other lots in the vicinity of said portion of said unnamed alley or portion of said Rosewood Street.

That there are equal benefits from the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street to the owners of the lots abutting thereon, and that said benefits to be derived by said owners are dependent upon the future use of said owners, or their heirs and assigns, of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street which they may acquire as the abutting property owners by the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street.

Under the circumstances, the Commissioners feel that since the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church owns most of the property abutting on said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street, they should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said portion of said alley and street."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after June 8, 1959, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

OF CUMBERLAND

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition) notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, June 8, 1959, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of an unnamed twelve (12) foot alley lying between the northerly boundary of Fectig Avenue and the southerly boundary of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 495 feet, more or less, and Rosewood Street which runs from the northerly side of an unnamed alley, which alley lies in the rear of or constitutes the eastern extension of Fectig Avenue, to the southerly side of Bopp Avenue, a distance of 490 feet, more or less, all located in Bopp's Suburban Addition Amended to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises (2:00 P.M., June 1, 1959) and remaining there for a period in excess of one-half (½) hour, the Commissioners report that no property owners appeared to be heard for or against the closing of said street and alley, and therefore, the Commissioners present the following:

"That there are no damages or benefits to the owners of lots in Bopp's Suburban Addition binding on the portion of said unnamed alley and the portion of said Rosewood Street in said Addition, or of any other lots located in said Addition, or any other lots in the vicinity of said portion of said unnamed alley or portion of said Rosewood Street.

That there are equal benefits from the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street to the owners of the lots abutting thereon, and that said benefits to be derived by said owners are dependent upon the future use of said owners, or their heirs and assigns, of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street which they may acquire as the abutting property owners by the closing of said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street.

Under the circumstances, the Commissioners feel that since the St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church owns most of the property abutting on said portion of said unnamed alley and said portion of said Rosewood Street, they should be required to pay all costs incurred by the City of Cumberland in connection with the closing of said portion of said alley and street."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after June 8, 1959, and filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Former Local Man Lost In Chesapeake Bay

James Karns, 34, Falls From Boat

Coast Guard officials said yesterday there is "still a chance" of finding the 34-year-old son of a local woman who has been lost in the Chesapeake Bay near Kent Island since 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The missing man, James Karns, of Boulevard Park, Pasadena, was last seen by his uncle and fishing companion, Dr. Clyde F. Karns, 59, a Lake Shore surgeon.

He is a son of Mrs. Violet E. Karns, 1309 Frederick Street, who has been employed as cook at the Allegany County Jail for about 10 years.

Boats, Planes Used

At dawn yesterday a 40-foot patrol boat began searching the area where the man fell overboard. At the same time a Coast Guard light plane and a helicopter attempted to spot him from the air.

Other rescue vessels were expected to join in the search.

Dr. Karns told the Coast Guard his nephew fell from their pleasure boat off Love point near the Chester River.

The physician said he threw James Karns two life rings and the younger man caught both of them. The doctor then attempted to turn the boat around and pick up his nephew but he had trouble maneuvering in the choppy water.

Disappears In Water

By the time he turned the boat, James had apparently drifted out of the area. A fruitless six-hour search was continued until darkness forced its postponement until yesterday. Yesterday's search, also fruitless, will continue today.

Coast Guard officials said they had learned Karns is a good swimmer, and said that with the aid of the life rings he could easily stay afloat for 24 hours.

They also theorized he may have already made it to shore but may have been too exhausted to walk out from the wild area along the shore. The Coast Guard plane was checking the shoreline yesterday.

The water search is being concentrated in that part of the bay three miles north of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge where Mr. Karns was last seen.

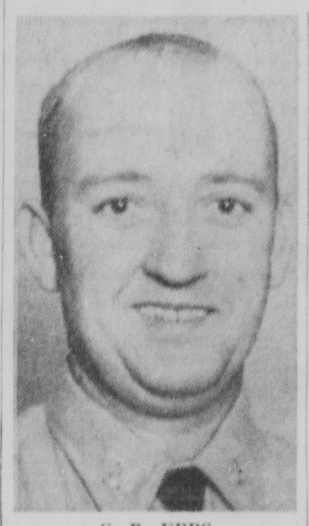
Alabama Native Assigned Here As Navy Recruiter



C. B. EPPS

A native of Alabama has been assigned here as a recruiter for the Navy and expects to be stationed at the local office for two years.

He is C. B. Epps, chief electrician's mate, a veteran of World War II and the Korean war.

After completing boot training at San Diego, Calif., he was assigned to the Griffith, a submarine tender, and was stationed at Pearl Harbor nearly a year.

While aboard the Murray, a destroyer, during World War II, he was in the Marshall Islands, Guam, Saipan, Iwo Jima, and the Philippines.

In 1945 he returned to New York City and was discharged in October of that year. After working about a year and a half in civilian life, he decided to reenlist.

He spent about a year on a small craft at Guam and a year at Perl Harbor. After shore duty at Indian Head, Md., he was assigned to the Endicott, a destroyer mine sweeper. This was during the Korean war.

For four years he was aboard the English, a destroyer, and was stationed in Atlantic and Mediterranean waters. Later he was aboard the Everglades, a destroyer tender.

The new recruiter, who became a grandfather at the age of 33, is married to the former Maurine Evans of Albertville. The couple has three children and two grandchildren.

He replaces Coy E. Turner, who is being transferred after being stationed here for two years.

Army Reserve Postal Unit In Training

Assisting at the message center and handling "mail call" at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation in Pennsylvania are duties of the local 729th Army Postal Unit now in the midst of its two-weeks summer encampment.

After being briefed on the training schedule by Capt. Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant postmaster here, the Army Reserve unit settled down to its duties for the two-week period.

As its first project, the unit set up the post postal service for the 22 units. Among the units training is the [illegible] Infantry Division consisting of over 8,000 men.

The local postal unit is under the jurisdiction of the XXI U.S. Army Corps (Reserve) with headquarters at Indiantown Gap, which is located about 170 miles from Cumberland.

The local unit is sponsored by the Post Office here. Other postal employes aside from Captain Cumiskey are Thomas A. Carscaden, master sergeant; Theodore W. Gray, sergeant first class; and Paul A. Nicholson, sergeant.

The City Recreation Department will introduce a new game on three of the 14 playgrounds which open here Monday morning.

It is called tetherball and will be used on North End, Mapleside and Ridgedale playgrounds.

The game was popular on playgrounds in Hagerstown last summer, according to C. Eugene Mason, recreation director.

He said that if the activity proves equally popular here, equipment will be added next year at one or two playgrounds.

Equipment includes a tetherball, a rope, paddles and a 10-foot pole. The ball is attached to the top of the pole so it hangs three feet from the ground.

The ball is put into play by the first player hitting the ball around the pole. His opponent must allow the ball to make one entire revolution before hitting it back in the other direction.

The game continues until one player winds the ball completely around the pole or a foul is committed.

It is usually played with one individual against another but can be used with two members on each side or more, if played as a continuous relay.

Contractors Boost Welfare Fund Payments

Is Included In 12½-Cent Package

Area contractors boosted their payments into the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland in agreements reached this year with building trades unions.

A 2½-cent boost in health and welfare payments, to 10 cents an hour, was included in the 12½-cent package negotiated with most Building and Construction Trades Council unions last month.

One of the factors in the increased welfare payments was a $23,280 deficit incurred by the fund last year.

The deficit, trustees reported, was directly attributable to the increase in premiums for new benefits and the maintenance of insurance for eligible members who qualified under the fund's eligibility rules.

The need for additional contributions showed up last year as insurance premiums paid amounted to $159,600, or 111.72 per cent of all contributions, which were paid by contractors at the rate of 7½ cents for each hour worked by their employes.

Unions which participate in the fund include Teamsters Local 453, Carpenters Local 1024, Laborers Local 616, Iron Workers Local 568, Operating Engineers Local 37-B, Roofers Local 34 and Cement Finishers Local 296.

The 10-cent wage boost increased the hourly pay for common labor to $2.15 and semi-skilled labor to $2.25.

Fire Blight Reported In Fruit Trees

Fire blight of apple and pear trees has been reported by local residents, Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said yesterday.

The disease, he said, started as a blighting of blossoms.

Mr. Steger, who said that complaints have been received from homeowners in the vicinity of Fort Hill High School, pointed out that he has received no complaints as yet from area orchardists.

Residents are reminded that fire blight has been attacked and often prevented by the application of blossom sprays. Antibiotic sprays containing streptomycin sulphate have been helpful.

He said these sprays are preventive sprays and are suggested where fire blight-susceptible varieties of fruit are grown.

James Karns, 34, Falls From Boat

Coast Guard officials said yesterday there is "still a chance" of finding the 34-year-old son of a local woman who has been lost in the Chesapeake Bay near Kent Island since 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The missing man, James Karns, of Boulevard Park, Pasadena, was last seen by his uncle and fishing companion, Dr. Clyde F. Karns, 59, a Lake Shore surgeon.

He is a son of Mrs. Violet E. Karns, 1309 Frederick Street, who has been employed as cook at the Allegany County Jail for about 10 years.

Boats, Planes Used

At dawn yesterday a 40-foot patrol boat began searching the area where the man fell overboard. At the same time a Coast Guard light plane and a helicopter attempted to spot him from the air.

Other rescue vessels were expected to join in the search.

Dr. Karns told the Coast Guard his nephew fell from their pleasure boat off Love point near the Chester River.

The physician said he threw James Karns two life rings and the younger man caught both of them. The doctor then attempted to turn the boat around and pick up his nephew but he had trouble maneuvering in the choppy water.

Disappears In Water

By the time he turned the boat, James had apparently drifted out of the area. A fruitless six-hour search was continued until darkness forced its postponement until yesterday. Yesterday's search, also fruitless, will continue today.

Coast Guard officials said they had learned Karns is a good swimmer, and said that with the aid of the life rings he could easily stay afloat for 24 hours.

They also theorized he may have already made it to shore but may have been too exhausted to walk out from the wild area along the shore. The Coast Guard plane was checking the shoreline yesterday.

Basic Work At Allegany Is Approved

Vandegrift Firm To Do Alterations

The John I. Vandegrift Company, this city, has been given the go-ahead signal to do some basic work on the construction of alterations and additions to Allegany High School.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said the Vandegrift company, which submitted a low bid of $51,600 for the project, has not been awarded the contract, but was officially told to go ahead with basic work such as tearing out the floor of the old gymnasium which has been replaced.

The old gym will be remodeled for use as a library. Health suites and classroom facilities are also included in the proposed construction work.

Mr. Webster said the architectural firm of Johannes and Murray of Silver Spring and Vandegrift are now attempting to whittle down the cost of the additional work to the school.

Two other bids were received for the project. Second lowest bidder was George Construction Company, city, which submitted a bid of $92,678 with an alternate bid of $3,250.

The George F. Hazelwood Company, city, submitted a bid of $99,758 and alternate bid of $1,958. Vandegrift's alternate bid was $3,400 deducted for use of asphalt tile in place of cork in certain areas of the construction work.

Fire Blight Reported In Fruit Trees

Fire blight of apple and pear trees has been reported by local residents, Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said yesterday.

The disease, he said, started as a blighting of blossoms.

Mr. Steger, who said that complaints have been received from homeowners in the vicinity of Fort Hill High School, pointed out that he has received no complaints as yet from area orchardists.

Residents are reminded that fire blight has been attacked and often prevented by the application of blossom sprays. Antibiotic sprays containing streptomycin sulphate have been helpful.

He said these sprays are preventive sprays and are suggested where fire blight-susceptible varieties of fruit are grown.

Succulent shoots or water sprouts may be removed from the main limbs before fire blight forms a canker at the base. Blighted terminals should be pruned next winter.

University of Maryland Fact Sheet 113 on fire blight may be obtained at Mr. Steger's office at the Court House.
